

CITY COMMISSION TALKS AUTO CAMP

Committee Considering All Plans For Caring For Auto Tourists

With practically every member of the park and city commission in favor of removing the free auto camp grounds from Reading Park, a committee including members of those boards and representatives of the Lions Club and the chamber of commerce were busy to-day investigating the situation to determine the best way out.

Commissioner Glenn Devore stated at a joint meeting of the city commissioners and park commissioners that it would be absolutely impossible to provide in the next budget or in any budget within three years, at least, for money for the purchase of a camp grounds for tourists.

Not only Mayor Truman Hart expressed himself as being opposed to keeping the camp grounds in the park, but—Park Commissioner George C. Reading, whose father and mother donated the park to the city, also opposed it. They were of the opinion that the park should be for the use of Presnans, and if the Fresno people were prohibited from entering the park after midnight, campers should also be restricted.

"I want to say that when I informed this body at another meeting recently that the deed prohibited the use of the park as an auto camp grounds, I did not make any threats that it would be taken away by the heirs," stated Reading, "but I am bitterly opposed to keeping the auto camp grounds in the park."

After much discussion, in which the possibility of a privately owned auto park operated co-operatively with the city was considered, a motion that a representative committee be appointed, was made. This motion passed and Mayor Hart appointed a committee which is to make a report within a reasonable time.

PLANS FOR CITY POOL MAINTAINED

City Commission Rescinds Action Of Former Meet Appropriating Fund

Plans for a public swimming pool in Fresno, although abandoned by the city commission as far as a site at Reading Park is concerned, will not be dropped permanently, but will be revived at a later date when a suitable site can be found, and when the finances of the municipality are in such condition to permit of the project, the city commission agreed yesterday afternoon when the Reading Park project was abandoned.

The city commission unanimously voted to rescind its former action in connection with Reading Park, which included the appropriating of $25,000 for building the plunge. The action was taken following a joint conference with the park commission and others, at which it was decided that the plan was not feasible at this time.

Finance Commissioner Charles Dillon, one of the chief supporters of the project, intimated that he proposed to keep the subject one of the items rather than to drop it entirely, inasmuch as the city has spent approximately $1,100 for plans and specifications.

A special report by Fire Chief W. C. Borkholt concerning the physical condition of Captain Paul H. Johnson, who has been detailed to fire prevention work because of physical disability was taken under advisement for a week. Physicians' reports and a resume of Johnson's case were incorporated in the report.

Plans and specifications were approved and a resolution of intention passed for the paving of the alley in block 48, between Fresno and Merced avenues.

A resolution ordering work done on a sewer project in block 108 when the city clerk reported the proposition not protested was passed.

Thompson Brothers were awarded the contract for paving Los Angeles Street between Broadway and the Southern Pacific railroad right of way.

Plans of subdivisions of the Carra Tract, and of block 318 were approved.

Son Is Born

Lady Anglessey, mother of the heir to the title Marquis of Anglessey. After four girls had been born to the Marquis and Marchioness of Anglessey, the coming of twins, one of whom is a boy, has secured the succession in the direct line to the marquisate, which was created in 1818. The announcement of the arrival of an heir, which took place at Anglessey Castle, occasioned great rejoicings, such as was usual in the days when the birth of a son to the title was a great event among the retainers of the nobles. Lady Anglessey was Lady Marjorie Manners, sister of Lady Diana Manners.

ably will be acquired outside of the city hall as the result of the action of the city commission yesterday in accepting the report of Mayor T. G. Hart and Commissioner of Public Works William Stranahan, who recommended that no alterations be made at the city hall in order to provide the board with quarters.

The report of Hart and Stranahan was denied, disposal by the city commission last week when Commissioners Glenn Devore and Charles Dillon voted against its acceptance, thus creating a tie. Mayor Hart and Commissioner Thomas Anton voted to accept.

It was pointed out that when the fire alarm department is removed to its new quarters about the first of the year the move will permit of other moves within the city hall, which will make room for the civil service board without crowding out any other department or restricting their quarters.

MANY ARRESTS ON AUTO VIOLATIONS

Chief Truax Reports Traffic Situation Big Problem; 941 Break Law

Automobile traffic is growing at such a rapid rate in Fresno that the police department is forced to devote the greater part of its attention to this situation, according to the October report of Chief of Police Frank P. Truax, filed with the city commission yesterday afternoon. A total of 941 arrests were made during the month, of which 639 were for violations of various motor laws and ordinances, the report shows.

Eighteen persons were arrested for reckless driving and 149 for speeding, while the remaining 492 were charged with assorted other traffic law violations.

Fifty-four were arrested for violation of the city liquor ordinance, and intoxication was the charge against 124 others. Other arrests during the month included those for violations of a number of other city ordinances and several were on felony charges. Expense of $518 was incurred in liquor gambling and vice investigations.

Convictions were obtained in 812 cases, seventy-seven others are now pending in the courts, and twenty-five were dismissed, the report shows.

One feature of the report was the paragraph devoted to the amount of property reported lost and stolen, the valuation given by Truax being $27,667.50, of which he reported, a total of $15,630 was recovered.

City Zoning Ordinance Is Planned By Commission

Immediate action will be taken toward completion of the city zoning map and ordinance, which has been pending before the planning and city commissions, as the result of the action of the city commission yesterday in sanctioning the expenditure of funds necessary for the preparation of the map. Public Works Commissioner William Stranahan was authorized to draw upon the general fund for funds to complete the work.

As soon as his part of the work is completed the public works department and City Attorney Harry M. Johnston will begin preparation of the ordinance.

Police Officers Must Use City Cars For Prisoners

Fresno police officers who, in the future, go to other cities to bring back prisoners wanted here, must hereafter use automobiles owned by the city rather than their own cars, the city commission unanimously ruled yesterday. The point was raised by Commissioner Glenn Devore over allowing a claim of $125.15 for damages to the car of Sergeant P. D. Kruger. Kruger's car was wrecked recently while he was returning from the north with a prisoner.

The bill was allowed despite the protest of Devore, who sponsored the proposition to forbid the use of privately owned machines on public business. The commission unanimously adopted the ruling.

PLAN DRIVE FOR RED CROSS FUND

Captains of Teams Meet To Outline Campaign; To Start To-Morrow

Drive captains for the sixth annual roll call which officially opens in Fresno County to-morrow, met yesterday in conference at roll call headquarters in the chambers of commerce building and outlined plans for an intensive campaign.

The quota which has been set for the drive is $15,000 in Fresno city, and the quota to be raised in districts outside of Fresno city is $10,000.

Outlets Membership. Franklin Lowmyer, director of the roll call in the county, outlined to the captains the plan for the drive. The effort to be made to-day in the business district of Fresno to secure pledges for patron memberships which are $100, life memberships which are $50, sustaining memberships at $10 and contributing memberships at $5.

The work of obtaining actual Red Cross memberships at $1 will not be undertaken until the formal opening of the drive on Saturday.

At that time hundreds of workers in all sections of Fresno will be engaged in business houses, clubs, and in all public thoroughfares, selling the service of the Red Cross.

Italians To Aid. Anthony Sala advised Red Cross headquarters yesterday that his committee of Fresno Italians, which is composed of A. F. Carr and John Chiodi, had set a quota of $1,500 to be raised among Italians of this city.

He said that scores of Red Cross workers had been secured to carry on the Red Cross drive in the Italian quarters.

Dean G. R. E. MacDonald, chairman of the church committee, which was appointed yesterday by William Glass to secure the full support of all churches of all denominations in Fresno, met last night at the chambers of commerce and mapped out a plan which will bring the activities and services of the churches on Red Cross Sunday, November 12.

Assisting Dean MacDonald on this committee are Rev. M. C. Keating, Rev. F. G. H. Stevens, Rabbi Segal and W. F. McDaniel.

GIRL OF 13 IS SEIZED AS DRUG SMUGGLER

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Mary Selfert, of 534 West 124th Street, setting out from Germany yesterday by the North German Lloyd liner Sierra Nevada with her adopted daughter, Anna, an orphaned niece, and a trunk with a false bottom, under which Customs inspectors Edwards and Barrett discovered many packages and phials filled with morphine, with a valuing value of many thousands of dollars.

An inspector searched Mrs. Selfert and found a quart bottle of the drug. The daughter, who is only 12, had six dozen hypodermic needles in her clothing. She said her mother had given them to her and told her to hide them.

Stanton, United States Commissioner in Hoboken, held Mrs. Selfert in $5,000 bail for examination by the grand jury. She said she had bought the morphine for $2,000 marks through her brother-in-law in Germany.

MUSICIANS ARE CLUB GUESTS AT LOCAL RECITAL

A recital-tee arranged by the Musical Club of Fresno was given yesterday afternoon in the court of the Hotel Fresno. Three musicians, new to Fresno's musical public, were introduced in this delightful manner and a singer, whose voice has pleased music lovers of the city in past seasons, returned to them after a period of study in New York.

This pleasant custom of the musical club is not only a happy way of gathering the members together at the beginning of the year, but it serves the cause of music by giving the musicians an opportunity to be heard to advantage. The idea is splendid and could be copied in other cities with profit to the growth of art.

Agnes Gardner de Jahn, pianist, headed the program with a brightly scintillating group of numbers ably handled. Her playing is assured and intelligent and in addition she possesses a charming personality and is good to look at, which is not a small item in the equipment of an artist.

Mrs. de Jahn is spending the winter with her mother, Mrs. Richard Norrish, of Clovis, and is planning a recital later in the season.

Helen Severance Makay, violinist, a young player who essays a group bristling with difficulties. Her playing is smooth and her tone clear. The Sammartini-Elman love song was well done and the Hubay Hajos Kati served to display clever work in harmonics.

Quite the most promising performance of the afternoon was the harp playing of a young high school girl, Miss Iretta Rudy. It was a prophecy for the future which, if fulfilled, will mean success for her. The tone was rich, the phrasing excellent and the natural musical understanding unusual.

Emma Mesow Fitch gave a finishing group of well chosen songs with feeling, and a certain knowledge of their dramatic content. The accompaniments played by Mrs. Harry Coffey were decidedly a large part of the success of the singer's performance.

Nurse Misses Train Chases Patient In Plane

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—The mere matter of a Santa Fe train leaving her behind, when her patient needed her on the train didn't leave Miss Virginia Campbell, a Kansas City trained nurse, as much as when she and her patient arrived in Los Angeles together.

Together? But certainly. For Miss Campbell, when the Santa Fe limousine pulled out and left her at the station at Alhambra, N. M., calmly hired an airplane and gave chase.

And so, twelve hours after she had "lost" her patient, who was an elderly Los Angeles woman who had been visiting relatives in Kansas City, Miss Campbell was back with her, ministering to her every want.

"I was busy mailing postcards in the station at Albuquerque," Miss Campbell said last night, "when the train pulled out. There was only one thing to do—my reputation as a nurse being at stake."

"I soon got in touch with a professional aviator. But he had other plans for the afternoon, and couldn't think of chasing trains for less than $100."

"Well, to me my reputation as a nurse was worth more than $100, and though I'm not rich, I took him up. The chase was on. Twenty-five minutes after the train left us we were speeding after it. In two and a half hours the flyer landed me at Gallup, N. M. Then came the trouble. Because of headwind, we again missed the train by ten minutes."

"But another train leaving right after made connections with the limited at Williams, and that's where I finally rejoined my patient, after twelve hours."

Baker Submits Estimate Of Cost Of Tax Collection To Board Of Supervisors

Tax Collector Ray W. Baker submitted to the board of supervisors yesterday afternoon his estimate of the cost of collecting taxes in the various places in the county.

The figures follow. The estimated cost of collection is given after the name of the place and then the total tax for that place: Fresno, $2,360.46, tax $89,164.94; Clovis, $90.96, tax $9,696.32; Firebaugh, $15.76, tax $1,576.56; Fowler, $10.15, tax $1,115.55; Kingsburg, $102.54, tax $10,254.55; Parlier, $61.13, tax $6,113.13; Reedley, $106.10, tax $10,610.10; Sanger, $22.55, tax $2,255.55; Selma, $279.77, tax $27,977.77.

The estimate for Fresno city, Reedley and Selma is based on 1 per cent on the first $25,000 and one-fourth of 1 per cent on the remaining amount of tax. For the other places the basis is 1 per cent.

Chow, the kind they used to serve in the training camps. That's the kind they will serve in the "meat hall" of Fresno Lodge No. 429, Benevolent Order of Elks, at noon to-morrow to members who are veterans of the World War. So are the present Elks State officers.

There won't be any bugle call inviting them to "come and get it," Slater says, because a turkey dinner is promised and no other announcement is necessary. Those who do not have to hurry back to work, will have the opportunity of enjoying in some of the old army games, like hearts and casino. Table games will be provided, Slater says, but players who feel they can't be lucky unless they eat on a bunk and throw their cards on a folded army blanket will be accommodated. Pictures of famous crag gamas at Camp Lewis will be exhibited.

B. W. Gearhart is detailed as officer of the day. Ray W. Slater will have charge of all lines of communication.

Barrage Of Kerosene Lamps Greets Federal Agents In Liquor Raid

WILMINGTON (Del.), Nov. 10.—Federal prohibition agents this afternoon encountered a barrage of kerosene oil lamps, rolling pins and other household utensils when they made a raid on the home of Mrs. Mary Gralowsky, at Adams and Chestnut Streets, in Wilmington.

After the first volley had been fired the officers made a second rally and were forced to retreat, but when the ammunition was exhausted they entered and confiscated three gallons of supposed whisky. The women were arrested.

A raid on the home of Mrs. Mary Wis, 305 Maryland Avenue, was made without any opposition. Mrs. Wis submitted quietly, and surrendered a small quantity of alleged intoxicating liquor. Both women are charged with conducting a speakeasy.

The Color of the Floor

The color of the floor is an important matter if the whole surface is not to be covered with carpet. A hardwood or a parquetry floor will show the natural color of the wood, but stained or painted floor at once brings up the question of color. This must be settled in accordance with the general scheme of the room.

The floor color, first of all, must be a good background or foundation for the carpet or rug which covers it. If the floor coverings are light in hue, the floor had better be dark for the sake of contrast. Be careful, however, to have the color harmonize with the color of the rugs or carpet either by contrast or analogy, as already explained in lesson No. 16. It will be safest to have the floor some neutral tone.

As a general rule, it is well to have a painted or stained floor darker than the walls. If, however, the floor coverings are decidedly dark, it is quite allowable to have the floor light in hue. In doing so, settle upon a color or neutral preceding quality (see lesson twelve and thirteen), so as to avoid any possibility of disturbing contrasts.

These old-fashioned flowers must have been inspired from some quaint needlework, which, in its turn, registered memories of a garden long ago, for they comprise blossoms of every color—bright primrose, sunflower, yellow and orange. There are shades of mauve and purple, and judiciously spaced between bright green leaves are dull magenta reds, suggestive of asters.

Each flower has an evocative center which suggests a song, which must have been sung in grandmothers' times. Says the refrain: "The flowerlets gazed with wondering eye, upon my love so fair." Evidently the singer is the singer "got away with the sentimental stuff." In these days of sophisticated young maidens he would probably be told he must be suffering from "shell shock" as one cruel miss put it to an over-ardent admirer.

But to finish about the track—the square neck is outlined in small embroidered leaves. Square-cut necklines, by the way, are to be noted among the newest models.

box party occasionally. It is a delightful way to entertain out-of-town visitors. Full evening attire is indicated for both men and women who occupy a box at the opera, but the etiquette of the theater is not quite so formal. There, tuxedo, or in America, even cutaway or sack suits are worn by the men, while the women appear in what is known as "demi-toilette," informal dinner dress not conspicuously décolleté. In a box, whether at the opera or at a theatrical performance, it is the correct thing to have the front seats occupied by women. If a woman is guest of honor, she is given the seat next to the stage. The men occupy the seats in the rear. Except at a stag party, it is not correct for men to place themselves in the front row of a theater box. Copyright, 1922, Public Ledger Co.

American Palates Infallible

Like many popular delusions, is the prevalent opinion that certain foreign nations surpass the people of the United States in knowledge as to the proper selection and serving of food. While it is true that certain chefs, and justly famous, are of foreign extraction, no race of people are so particular about their food or live as well as the American Nation.

It is surprising when the facts are disclosed by investigation, how infallible is the palate of the American public. Invariably the best flour, the best bacon, the best cereal and the best coffee is always the best seller. The average citizen cannot be misled in the selection of food and the manufacturer who offers a better quality than his competitor is on a sure road to general recognition. Advertising has little to do with the final result, it merely hastens the day.

The fact that Hills Bros. Coffee has for many years led all other brands in volume of sales is a source of much pride, because it demonstrates that the majority of people can, and do, appreciate quality, and are quick to place the stamp of their approval on the goods of a manufacturer producing a perfect product.

FRIVOLITY RULES COLLEGE CAMPUS

Savant Declares Few Students Ever Attain Their Intellectual Majority

BERKELEY, Nov. 10.—Few students ever attain their intellectual majority, is the opinion expressed by Prof. R. S. French of the education department of the University of California. Professor French, in a public statement criticized the life at the Berkeley colleges as "over-filled and feverish." He declared that a "much ado about nothing" spirit on the university campus is retarding the development of students.

"Few students ever attain their intellectual majority. Power to think clearly cannot be had by copying or absorbing—and the habit of note taking militates against clear and adequate thought."

"A university graduate ought to be characterized first of all by his ability to think clearly, systematically and effectively."

"Wise leadership could make the student body the greatest in our state; and student bodies of the nation could bring about a new order."

Professor French concluded with the prediction that there are better times ahead. He praised campus dramatic arts and said that there are "a few intellectual leaders in the faculty and student body who create in the classroom an atmosphere of serious endeavor and high aspiration."

ROOSEVELT STATUE WILL BE UNVEILED

Armistice Day In Portland To Be Marked By Inspiring Ceremonies

PORTLAND (Ore.), Nov. 10.—Portland's Armistice Day observances will center chiefly about the dedication of an equestrian statue of Col. Theodore Roosevelt, which Dr. Henry Waldo Coe, of Portland, life-long friend of Roosevelt, has presented to the city and dedicated to the children of America.

The bronze is of heroic size, and will be one of the few such statues gracing Portland parks. It is the first equestrian statue to make the city its home.

A. Philmar Proctor, of Palo Alto, Cal., is the sculptor. He made a name for himself by his End of the Trail group at the Panama-Pacific exposition. The final work on the statue was done in Proctor's New York studio, and shipped to Portland by boat.

The unveiling ceremonies will commence in the Park Blocks, on Portland's west side, at 3 o'clock the afternoon of Armistice Day. By that hour the parade will have passed and the crowd will have remembered the end of the war sufficiently to gather around and hear a speech from the pen of President Harding apropos to the Roosevelt ceremonies, and an unveiling speech by General John J. Pershing, who will come to Portland. It has been learned, for the sole purpose of representing the president at the unveiling ceremony, Dr. Coe will make a talk on Roosevelt, whom he knew intimately when the two ranches in the Dakotas, and Proctor will tell the story on the creation of the statue.

Not Too Old To Be Bashful

Bob F. Robison And His Bride, Who Was Olga Hartwick. When "Bob" Robison, 78, and his sweetheart, Olga Hartwick, some age, decided to get married, they were "afraid the young folks," including Robison's 57-year-old son, "would make fun of them," so they slipped away from their home in Crown Point and were married in Chicago. Then they left for a honeymoon in Milwaukee.

The Deductions Of Harvey Hunt

By Phillip Francis Nowlan

(Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Co.)

By Phillip Francis Nowlan

(Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Co.)

Harvey Hunt believed that the letter from the anonymous "Owl" in the professional bankruptcy case was sincere for this reason: If it had been sent by a trick person with real malicious intent, that person would have been clever enough to sign a seemingly true name. Back of the name "Owl" he sensed the psychological reaction of a straight forward mind toward the dramatic when engaged in an act of unaccustomed secrecy. By the same reasoning he was inclined to believe there was some direct connection between the word "owl" and the man's real name. The phrase "bill of goods" indicated the mercantile mind, probably a competitor made desperate by the unfair advantage Sanville had through his operations as a fraudulent bankrupt.

Again he argued that such a merchant, fighting for the life of his business, would be stung into using the most mercurial and efficient methods of merchandising available, including advertising. Therefore he looked for him first among the advertisers in the local paper. As his eye ran down the list of advertisers, with the thought of "owl" in his mind, the name Wallace Knowles naturally appeared to him as Wallace Knowles. In hunting for a fictitious name with which to sign the letter he had simply taken the three central letters out of his own name.

Can you explain the—

Psychic Whispers.

"When did these spiritual manifestations first occur, Mrs. Derrivale?" asked Harvey Hunt. He let his eyes rove over the stately bedchamber of the invalid, with an artist's interest in the fresco of the vaulted ceiling, the wrought-iron grill of the old fashioned hot-air radiator, set high in the opposite wall, the arched windows with their rich draperies and the exquisitely modest appointments of the room. It was early fall and a warm breeze breathed into the sick room.

Mrs. Derrivale believed the criminal investigator to be a student. She had been summoned by her sister, Mrs. Winstan Caldwell, who was loath to believe in the spirituality of the weird whispering which she herself had heard the very night before while staying with Mrs. Derrivale.

"They began about a month after my boy died," said the invalid. "You know, Mr. Hunt, he went to France with the marines. He was wounded at Chateau-Thierry and never recovered."

"He lingered for several weeks, and I was determined my prayers should save him, even though they all told me from the beginning there was no hope. It was then, you know, that I said the old man—this one, I did it for him. His father died just a year ago, you know, and I didn't want him to come home to old memories. Now I just live here by myself with old Justine—she's been in the family for years—and occasionally Bertha comes to spend the night with me." She indicated Mrs. Caldwell.

"And what does your son talk to you about in these midnight visitations?" Harvey Hunt asked gently. "Oh, it's terrible, Mr. Hunt, the way he pleads with me to buy back the old Fifth Avenue home. He says his spirit can't rest peacefully there while it's occupied by strangers. He tries, oh so hard, to make me understand he's going to buy it back from the man who sold me this house, but he wants so much more money, and I have to wait until I can sell certain securities to give him what he asks. But it seems that though the psychic laws permit him to communicate with me, he can't hear me, no matter how I concentrate my mind on what I'm saying."

"And you say these manifestations come as whistlers in the dark and always about midnight?" Hunt queried.

"Yes," said the invalid, "but they're quite distinct. Even Bertha has to admit that, now that she's heard them. They just float down on me out of the darkness."

"And never until after she hears Justine go up to her room," supplemented her sister with a quick little glance in which were mingled half suspicion and half belief in the weird phenomenon.

"Harvey Hunt agreed to come and hear the disembodied voice that night with Mrs. Derrivale and her sister. Come he did; but he came to arrest a clever scoundrel who did not hesitate to prey upon a woman's most sacred instincts and memories. Can you deduct from the foregoing facts, as Harvey Hunt did, what this scoundrel was, and how the psychic whisperings were produced?"

The answer will appear tomorrow.

Says Turks Buried Alive—Greek Leading Priests

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The Greek metropolitan and ten priests, captured by the Turks at Alvaly, were buried alive because they refused to embrace Islamism, according to a cablegram received today from Athens by the Greek legation. Word also has been received in Athens, that the Greek metropolitan and the priests who remained in Alvaly and on the islands of Moronochia have been massacred and that wells in the vicinity "are filled with the bodies of young girls" who drowned themselves to escape from the Turks.

Christians in Smyrna between the ages of 15 and 30, the legation is informed, have been deported and forced to hard labor, hundreds dying from hunger and fatigue.

NEW YORK HELD WORLD GATEWAY

Harbor Declared To Be Most Ideal By Chief Engineer Of Port

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—New York is not only America's gateway, but it is the world's gateway. So says B. F. Cresson, Jr., chief engineer of the Port of New York.

"From New York harbor," Mr. Cresson declares, "fall the vessels of no less than two hundred steamship lines to all quarters of the globe. On an average, nearly thirty ships arrive every day and thirty ships clear every day."

"Nature gave the port of New York many wonderful physical advantages not possessed by any other port, every part of the harbor being within a few hours of the open sea, and the channel leading to the open sea is direct and deep and needs but little maintenance. The normal tidal variations are little more than four feet. Liver pool has twenty feet, and to contend with this tidal movement in New York is sufficient to admit clean salt water to oxidize the containing tanks, but it is not enough to create swift currents or to cause any ship to delay its sailings for a favorable tide. There is scarcely ever any harbor delay caused by the harbor waters frozen across."

"The records of the weather bureau show that New York is singularly free from interference with its water traffic by ice. It is no wonder that with these great natural advantages New York has reached its pre-eminence as a port and great are its responsibilities toward the commerce of the world."

Two Prima Donnas Arrive On Tahiti

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—Two prima donnas, Mme. D'Alvarez, formerly leading contralto of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, and Mme. Zerk, formerly French dramatic soprano, were passengers on the Union liner Tahiti, which docked at pier 32 yesterday from Australia and New Zealand.

Both artists have been on extensive concert tours of the Far East and Australasia. Mme. D'Alvarez, who has been associated with numerous French opera companies, and who gained fame for her secret and leading role in "The Merry Widow" in 1920, was stricken with fever at Manila last June, and for several weeks her life was despaired of. She recuperated and went to Australia to complete her program.

Mme. D'Alvarez has been appearing in concerts in Australia and New Zealand since last June. She will sing in San Francisco next Sunday, and then proceed to Southern California and the Southern states to give her concert program. She was accompanied by E. W. Lowrey, her manager.

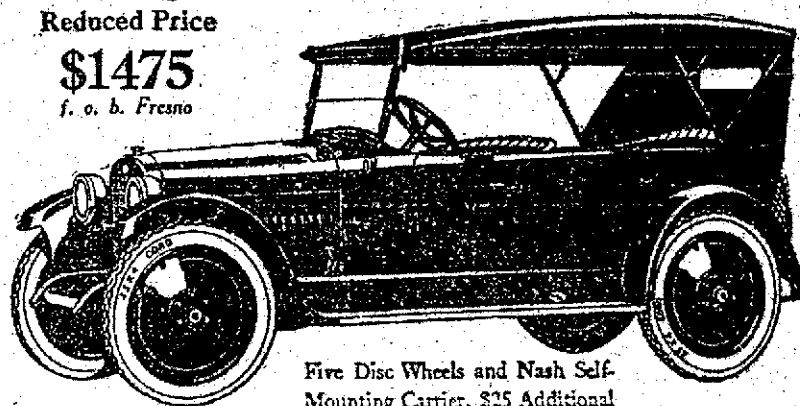

Cat's Big Estate Taken To Court As Feline Dies

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—A cat having died, $25,000 is thrown into the courts for disposition.

Eighteen years ago Miss Ellen F. Barnard left her estate in trust for her pet cat, seven cats, two canaries, a parrot and a cockatoo. "Mewy," a cat, survived all the rest and stood in the way of succession to the estate by Mrs. Leslie Wood Bond, to whom it was to go on the death of the cat. The cat has been before a superior court jury.

GATES HEIRRESS WILL BE BRIDE OF POOR ARTIST

Niece Of 'Bet 'Em A Million' To Marry Son Of Village Undertaker

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Dellora Angell, 15, niece and heiress to the $25,000,000 estate of "Bet 'Em A Million" Gates, will marry Lester Norris, poor artist and son of the village undertaker of St. Charles, Ill., in the Spring.

The engagement was formally announced at the gathering of Miss Angell's friends.

Norris, who is twenty-one, is a cartoonist for the Hamiltonian, published by the Hamilton Club of Chicago. He is a graduate of the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts.

Miss Angell is the daughter of a deceased sister of Mrs. John W. Gates, from whom she received the $25,000,000 fortune.

Miss Angell receives the income of the inheritance until she is 21 years of age. Until that time the estate is managed by her father, S. P. Angell.

"There's nothing strange about it," Miss Angell said today. "We love each other. The romance started years ago when Lester was in the sixth grade and I was in the fourth grade."

Miss Angell recently returned from Europe, where it was reported she received scores of proposals of marriage from "royalty."

"I don't want a fancy wedding," she said. "I don't want a fancy wedding. I don't want a fancy wedding. I don't want a fancy wedding."

Playground Lots To Be Purchased—Owner Agrees To Accept A Lower Price; Deal To Be Closed Shortly

Agreement by Agnes Maderostian to accept $4,500 for twelve lots required to complete the proposed change in location of the Cosmo playground has eliminated the last obstacle in the path of the proposed change, and immediate steps will be taken to this end, it is announced today at the city hall.

Lots Appraised—The lots in question were valued by the owner at $5,500, although appraised at a lower figure by a board of appraisers appointed by the city commission.

The purchase of other property in the same block was made contingent upon the purchase of the Maderostian lots for the lower price, and now that this deal is at the point of consummation the city department will go ahead with its plans for enlarging the playground.

Other Purchase Delayed—Four other lots sought by the playground department will not be purchased at this time, it is said, because of the demand for a price which the city officials claim is exorbitant.

Doctors Bound Over To Federal Court, Charged With Liquor Violations

Doctors V. I. Aron and William Kingston Vance were bound over to the federal court today by United States Commissioner Samuel P. Hollister after the cases against the two physicians were submitted this morning upon evidence introduced by the government on Monday.

The preliminary hearing of the two physicians, who are accused of illegally issuing liquor prescriptions in violation of the national prohibition law, was to have been resumed today, but no other testimony was offered, and Commissioner Hollister made his decision.

Dr. Aron is charged with three violations of the act, being accused of issuing three prescriptions to W. M. Smith, government city agent, without making an examination of his person. Dr. Vance is charged with issuing one prescription illegally.

They were released on bond put up at the time of their arrests.

By WILLIAM FOSTER ELLIOT

THE ORPHEUS BILL. This week's Orpheus bill contains two acts that are a good deal out of the ordinary, as well as a couple more, which though not unusual in kind, are extremely well done. It makes, on the whole, a good show with plenty of laughs, and seemed to be thoroughly satisfactory to last night's audience.

First honors go to Bailey and Cowan. With the help of Estelle Davis attractive gowns and profile, they present a number of smart songs. Billy Bailey doing most of the hard work, and Lynn Cowan furnishing incidental comedy and banjo accompaniment. The act is well staged and full of pep from beginning to end. Miss Davis designed the gowns and Cowan wrote and staged the act. It is a quite a family affair.

Crazy and Darryl offer a skit which is more than amusing, a study in arbitration that ends with a surprise just when you think it's going to become very saccharine.

ATHLETICS WILL BE CONTINUED, IS BOARD DECISION

Educational Body Will Not Interfere With Athletic Program Of School

Athletics at the Fresno schools will continue as heretofore through the refusal last night of the city board of education to interfere with the sports program at the Fresno High School, which would cut off the athletic program at Palo Alto, which enables the student body to meet its obligations.

The matter was brought up by Superintendent of Schools W. J. Cooper to find out if members of the board wished to have football and other athletic sports stopped to lessen the danger of accidents, for which they might be held liable.

Early Trial Wanted
H. H. Holland suggested after the matter had been discussed from all angles, that the board should make an effort to have the damage suit filed against them by Mrs. Hattie Brooks, as guardian of Joe Brooks, set for trial as early as possible, if it was settled in their favor, athletics would continue as they had in the past. On the other hand, if it were adversely settled, it would be taken into higher courts.

The fact that a football game between the Fresno and Selma High Schools was to take place this afternoon was called to the board's attention by Principal Delbert Brunton during the discussion. A plan of having the football field covered by insurance to protect both players and spectators was proposed by W. A. Conn. Brunton was then instructed to ascertain if this was possible. Questioned as to the safety of the bleachers, Brunton declared that they were as solid as Gibraltar and could not be shaken down. Outside of the school at Palo Alto they were the best in the state. The student body had bonded itself to secure the money with which to build them and a payment of $1,800 would shortly fall due.

Instructions from Superintendent Cooper to all principals and teachers forbidding them to take pupils off the school grounds during school sessions were upheld when the board declined to give Superintendent Cooper permission to allow children to attend the Pacific Slope Dairy Show in the Fresno Auditorium next week.

Reasons for the presence of the school children at the show were presented by S. H. Greene, one of the organizers of the dairy exposition. He contended that it provided a great deal of educational matter and that the building was insured to protect spectators.

As no member of the board was willing to make a motion, order regarding excursions from school grounds automatically prevent the pupils from attending the show in regular classes.

No Interest In Music
There is not much interest in music at the Fresno High School, Principal Brunton declared, when the matter of individual violin and piano instruction came up. Fewer students elect to take the course here than in other cities. Data compiled by Superintendent of Schools Cooper shows that the cost of musical instruction is much greater in Fresno than elsewhere. While admitting that the cost of individual instruction is costly, Brunton defended the idea. The matter will be taken up at the next meeting, when Superintendent Cooper will submit a further report.

The request of Miss Inez Coffin, supervisor of elementary music for permission to conduct a special class for certain teachers who needed intensive private instruction was laid over until the next meeting. Leave of absence asked by Miss Coffin in order to attend the third annual conference of music in Oakland, November 22nd and 24th, at which she has been asked to read a paper on Voice Testing for Four Part Singing, was referred to Superintendent Cooper.

Given Leave Of Absence
Superintendent Cooper was granted leave of absence to attend the annual convention of county and school superintendents in Oakland, beginning November 20th. Cooper is slated to make an address and has also the permission of the board to submit a list of questions on hypothetical accidents in which pupils might incur injuries, and what possible relation these would have to liability on the part of the members of the board of education.

Miss Marie Estelle Graham was elected a teacher in the local schools on a probationary status. A report on the progress of installing the sprinkler system at the high school was made by H. G. Cotton, landscape specialist of San Francisco. No action was taken on his proposal for placing ten flower boxes between alternate columns at the high school. A number of terra cotta they would cost $25 apiece, of concrete, $25 each, he said.

Open Hiss
Bids on a greenhouse and heating plant were opened. Being considerably in excess of the estimated cost they were referred to A. A. Sorenson, supervisor of agricultural instruction.

Instructions preventing excursions from the school grounds, will almost ruin the agricultural course, Superintendent Cooper stated during the discussion which arose over stopping school athletics.

Two Young Bicyclists
Injured In Accidents

Two young bicyclists, hurt in traffic accidents to-day, are recovering from their injuries, which are not serious.

Norris Seaman, aged 15, 2412 Washington Avenue, fell from his bicycle on N Street and suffered concussion of the brain.

Wesley Williams, aged 12, who lives at Belmont and Valentine Avenues, was also painfully injured when he was struck by an automobile near his home.

Fresno Recovering From Burns
Clay Street, is on the road to recovery from burns he received when he mistook a can of gasoline for coal oil and poured it on a fire. Surgeons at the county hospital stated to-day he would recover. Police Nurse Walter Stapleton treated Salomoff at the Emergency Hospital.

MISSION HEAD TO SPEAK
Rev. A. R. Hutchinson, secretary of the Home Mission Board of the United Presbyterian Church in America, will arrive in Fresno to-morrow to address the meeting of the Home Mission Society of the First United Missionary Church in the evening. A musical program has been arranged and Dr. George H. H. Thompson, superintendent of missions in California, will also speak.

U. S. WILL PROBE HAWAIIAN LABOR

Federal Commission To Investigate Conditions Prevailing In Islands

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—For the purpose of investigating labor and immigration conditions in the Hawaiian Islands, a commission named by Secretary of Labor Davis at the request of the Hawaiian government, will sail from this port November 23rd, according to announcement just made. The appointment of the commission was made with the approval of President Harding.

Local financial and commercial concerns with connections in Hawaii have received the news of the proposed investigation with favorable comment. That it is high time the United States Government took direct action to obtain official information on a situation which has been brought to the attention of congress several times within the past three years, is the consensus of opinion of these interests here.

One of the principal causes of labor shortage according to Hawaiian commercial interests here, is that war-time wages soared and Oriental labor left the islands in large numbers when the war period was over, with money enough to assure an easy living by Oriental standards in their native lands.

Chinese labor would be most desirable under present conditions, it was agreed, as against further increases in an already large Japanese population. Strong representations were made against any attempt to use white labor on the plantations.

Hearing Is Delayed In Rice Company Citation

Attorney Lewis Smith, counsel for officials of the Southern Rice and Sales Company, appeared in Police Judge J. G. Crickton's court this morning and asked that the citation served upon his clients be heard this afternoon instead of at 10 o'clock to-day. His request was granted.

The officials were cited to appear for alleged violation of the city building ordinance in that they took out a building permit to erect a corrugated iron building for a warehouse, but used it for a packing house.

Complaint was made by residents in the neighborhood of the warehouse which is located on Calhoun Street. The citation was issued at the request of City Attorney H. M. Johnson, who stated to-day a complaint would be asked when the officials appear before Judge Crickton this afternoon.

WORK ORDERED ON PSYCHIATRIC WARD

The board of supervisors in session yesterday afternoon ordered that the construction of a psychiatric ward at the Fresno County Hospital be started immediately. Plans for the hospital addition were adopted some time ago. The work will be done by day labor under the direction of the building committee of the board of supervisors. The addition will include a ward each for male and female patients and an isolation ward for violent cases.

Hit With Clock, Man Now Has Mania To Steal Them

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Herbert Plaf, of 121 East Fortieth Street, told Judge Frederick Kernochan in Special Sessions that he was once hit on the head with an alarm clock and ever since has been suffering from a mania for acquiring a new alarm clock "whenever I take a few drinks."

Thomas Horan, probation officer, reported that Plaf had confessed to walking off with alarm clocks on three occasions during the last year. He was arraigned yesterday on the charge of stealing an alarm clock from a Fifth Avenue store.

Plaf had better get that alarm clock out of your head," admonished the Court. On Plaf's promise to take the pledge he was admitted to probation.

What Milady Who Goes South Will Find To Meet Her Needs

By ELOISE

Although most women are still worrying about their winter wardrobes there are some few lucky ones who are beginning to think of costumes for wear at their favorite southern resort. These women will be interested in the three costumes pictured here. All three are made of a new spring material called douv-chine. It is very similar to the silk of the past, but is lighter and more durable. The first is a simple, elegant dress with a high collar and long sleeves. The second is a more elaborate gown with a full skirt and a high collar. The third is a simple, elegant dress with a high collar and long sleeves.

A day and evening coat is shown in the center. It is a startling creation made of a poppy red douv-chine trimmed with a huge design in white leather. A white kid turban completes the costume for street wear. Kid is the new fad from Paris for dress trimmings, hats and other novelties.

A very graceful mode is shown at the right. It is made of gray douv-chine trimmed with blue douv-chine and strips of black leather. The blouse back, the cape sleeves, the snug fit over the hips, the uneven hem and the tuck at the hips and repeated in the collar. An orange felt hat gives a note of brilliant color to the whole.

All three of these costumes were shown at a recent private display of one of New York's leading costumers.

Use Poisoned Oats To Kill Off Rodents

DENVER, Nov. 10.—Sixty tons of poisoned oats, scattered over farm lands in twenty Colorado counties, has resulted in the destruction of 3,000,000 prairie dogs, with a saving estimated at approximately $500,000 to farmers of the state, according to Joseph Keyes, director of rodent control of the United States biological survey.

The work of rodent extermination will be extended into thirty counties of the state next year, and will include pocket gophers as well as prairie dogs, Keyes said.

"It is generally admitted that it costs $1 a year to feed one prairie dog," Keyes said, "which would make this year's campaign represent a saving of $3,000,000 to the state of Colorado, minus the trivial cost of the poison-potion. However, in our official report, which probably errs a little on the side of conservatism, it will be said that the poisoning of 3,000,000 prairie dogs prevented destruction of crops and damage to agriculture to the extent of $500,000."

Retirement into hibernation this month of the prairie dog has brought about a period of inactivity in the work of extermination, during which time plans will be completed for continuing and extending the work next year.

Major League Players' Union Is Taking Form

By HENRY L. PARRELL,
United Press Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Some time ago I announced that the major league ball players were forming a union to secure a more equitable form of contract with the club owners and to obtain a representation on the national advisory council.

At that time all the high officials of baseball ridiculed the reports in public statements, saying that the players would not be foolish enough to shoot at the well known goose.

During the fall meeting of the magnates in Chicago, they looked upon the reports more seriously, however, and they discussed the subject at length.

Shortly after the meeting, reports began to spread that Raymond J. Cannon, the Milwaukee attorney who defended several members of the "Black Sox" and who was retained by some of the players to form the organization, was going to use the union to force the "Black Sox" back into baseball. Other stories were circulated that the players were going to call a general strike next spring for increased salaries.

Perhaps the club owners had nothing to do with the circulation of these reports, but it seemed rather coincidental that they started after the meeting of the magnates.

Cannon Strike Considered.

Cannon denies that the players have ever considered a general row afternoon. The investigation will be continued to-night.

Stevens, Fire Chief William C. Beckwith, Fire Marshal Ralph Williams, Captain F. Walsh, Truckman C. C. Hughes, and others were called before the commission, and a number of others are scheduled to be heard during the course of the investigation. It was stated this morning.

Stevens returned to Fresno this morning and will remain here at the place of the fire commission, he announced, although the length of time his services will be required in the investigation is a matter of conjecture.

The commission has announced that Stevens will be asked to make a complete survey of the fire department and everything connected with it, and to make recommendations for modification of existing conditions which he believes are working against efficiency in the fire department.

Taxis Serve As Portable 'Gas' Supply Stations

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Why they pick Manhattan Bridge no one knows for sure, but taxicab drivers have found that automobiles which run out of gasoline on the bridge are a source of considerable revenue. After midnight, when the number of potential fares along Fifth avenue dwindles below the number of cruising cabs, experienced hackles shift, their field of operation to Manhattan Bridge.

About half a dozen drivers have obtained a temporary monopoly on bridge gasoline buggies. They drive back and forth across the structure and seldom without a fare for more than one round trip.

"Why do so many cars stall on the bridge?" one taxi driver repeated the question. "Because their drivers think they have enough gas to get over to Brooklyn or to reach Lafayette street, Manhattan, the nearest gasoline station and so they keep on going when they hit the bridge plaza and because around 2 o'clock in the morning the bridge is almost clear of traffic they begin to speed up."

The additional speed soon reduces their gas supply to nil, and with a choke, cough or a grunt, their vehicle stalls. Then they repeated the question. Salary Arguments Banned

So far Commissioner Landis has wisely held aloof from salary arguments, but he will be forced into the controversies eventually and the presence of a player on the board would not make his task any more difficult.

Cannon claims that he was retained only to get the money coming to several of the "Black Sox" and that he never entertained the notion of getting their jobs back.

In spite of the general sentiment against them, most of the fair minded fans agreed that Commissioner Landis had no right to withhold the money that was coming to the wayward players under the contracts which he had signed.

MILK WEEK TO BE OBSERVED

Plan Education Drive To Increase Use Of Health Fluid

Sam H. Greene, secretary-manager of the California Dairy Council, yesterday told a luncheon gathering at the Hotel Fresno the purposes of the "Milk For Health Week" to be observed here next week in conjunction with the second annual Pacific Slope Dairy Products Show.

Three at the luncheon meeting included members of the executive committee in charge of the campaign and other representative citizens interested in the promotion of nutrition, particularly among children, through the use of dairy food products.

Purposes Of Campaign
The primary purpose of the campaign, it was pointed out, is to educate the public to the benefits of consistent use of milk and other dairy products. During the campaign next week, this message will be projected for the general public good through exhibits at the dairy products show. Store window displays, a pageant and play by Fresno school children, newspaper articles, moving picture films, essay and poster contests in the city schools, and the milk diet contest in which thirty-five Fresno newsboys have participated.

In the milk diet contest, the newsboys having been fed one quart of milk daily during the past two months, great gains have been made in avoirdupois and general physical condition of the participants, Greene said. It follows as a matter of course, he pointed out, that perfect physical condition is accompanied by the most desirable mental condition.

W. J. Cooper Speaks
Superintendent of City School W. J. Cooper declared that were the "Milk For Health" campaign a commercial enterprise, the Fresno city school administration would not be a party to it. He said that the food values of dairy products have been conclusively proved.

M. E. Patterson's Views
The third speaker at the luncheon which was attended by thirty local residents and a few visitors, was M. E. Patterson, manager of the Fresno Chamber of Commerce, who related the circumstances resulting in the second annual Pacific Slope Dairy Products Show being held in Fresno.

DOPE SHIPPING RING REVEALED

Huge Smuggling Plot Uncovered By Confession Of Chinese Ship's Cook

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—Through a confession made by Ah Chee, a Chinese stevedore, aboard the Sibera Maru, indicted for smuggling, the "inside" methods of the Chinese dope smuggling ring which keeps San Francisco flooded with narcotics through a system rooted on the other side of the Pacific has been revealed.

Ah Chee was caught aboard the vessel with opium, morphine and cocaine in his possession which carried a street value of $75,000. He was arrested when customs officials tore up a false floor in a storeroom of the Sibera Maru and discovered the poison.

Plan Is Outlined
Although Ah Chee later repudiated his confession, it became of record when Thomas D. Dozier, attorney for the steamship company, took the stand in the United States District Court and testified to the earlier revelations of the Chinese.

According to Ah Chee's confession, as related by Dozier, it was arranged before the ship left China

Mother Spurned By Little Son

Mrs. Gertrude Stiles, left, and Mrs. Muriel Barrington

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Muriel Barrington may be forced to spend months, long and dreary, behind prison bars.

She may be branded with the shame that comes to a thief. She may lose honor, respect and all that a woman holds dear.

But these will be as nothing to the bitter anguish that already has filled her soul, the pain that has torn at her mother's heart.

"Mama—you stole, and you know that's wrong."
These words coming from her little son, hardly able to lisp, as he gazed at her through the cell bars, her baby's indictment that she is not a good mother, these are the words that have seared her very soul with anguish.

Mrs. Barrington, arrested by police here, confessed that with her sister, Mrs. Gertrude Stiles, she had robbed many homes. Police say she was responsible for 250 robberies.

The sisters, police say, admit that they realized the wrong they were committing but declared that the weight of that knowledge was easier to bear than the sight of the poverty under which they had struggled so long.

Mrs. Stiles is the wife of a clerk who after spending long hours at the office read stories to the four small children while his wife who, he believed, was attending a movie, was in reality robbing homes.

"Prison doesn't mean anything," Mrs. Barrington said. "I just don't care what they do now. That awful look in my baby's eyes. I will remember it to my dying."

And an outburst of tears choked her.

Mrs. Barrington said that her family was over a thousand dollars in debt for two operations and the little home they were buying was slipping from them.

"That was the situation when I stole the first time," she said. For some time Mrs. Barrington kept her crimes a secret from her sister but since last Christmas the two have been working together keeping their families in ignorance of their acts, according to police.

The two men, who were off duty at the time, are accused of purchasing liquor from the women, and Nyhan is declared to have given money to one of the women and then threatened to arrest her. Ryan and Nyhan together with the two women, Ada Wilson and Marie Jones, were taken to the Bush Street police station where they were questioned at length and later released.

5 BANDITS ROB BANK IN SOUTH
Youths Snatch Roll Of Bills As Cashier Reaches For Revolver

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—Five youthful bandits robbed the Monterey Park Bank near Alhambra today and escaped with about $300 snatched from the counter. M. M. Thayer, cashier and president, said that two of the bandits entered the bank and ordered him to hold up his hands and as he reached for a revolver, grabbed a roll of bills and fled. They escaped in a car that was waiting outside after several shots were exchanged.

Thayer said his neck was grazed by one of the bullets and that he believed he wounded one of the bandits.

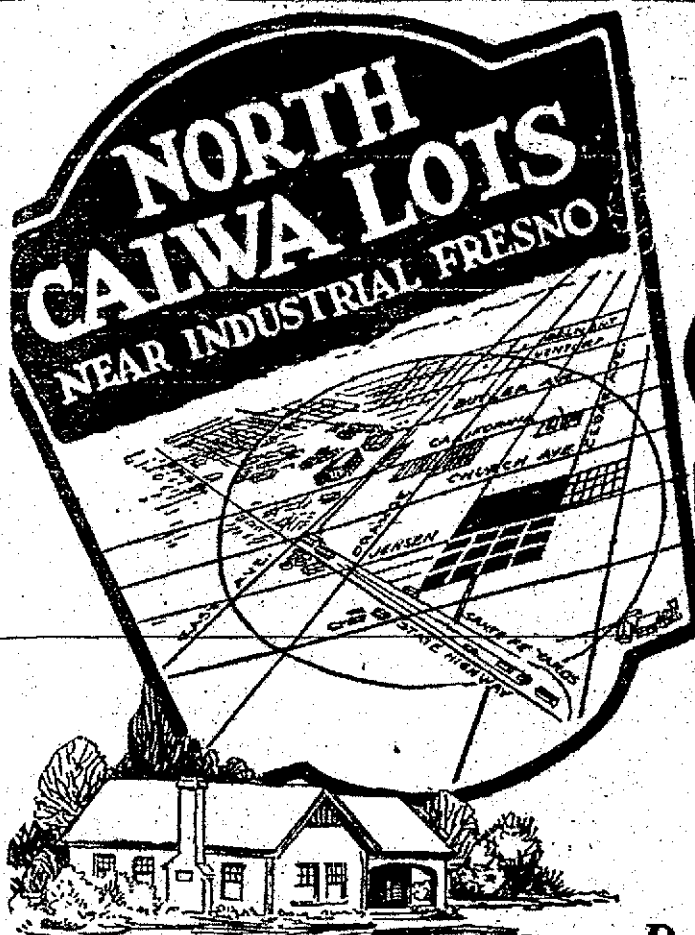

Southern Pacific Will Obtain 7,000 New Cars
Seven thousand freight cars to cost more than $5,000,000 are to be built for the Southern Pacific Company for delivery next year, it was announced here yesterday by H. H. Ish, district freight and passenger agent.

The new equipment, Ish said, does not include refrigerator cars for handling perishables. The company's supply of refrigerators is provided by the Pacific Fruit Express Company in which the Southern Pacific owns a half interest.

Mr. Sprague in his message said: "The addition of these cars to the Southern Pacific's present supply will materially benefit Pacific Coast shippers. The Southern Pacific already owns more than 25,000 cars. The additional ones will mean a substantial increase in the Pacific Coast freight car supply."

Hunter Shoots Father By Mistake For Rabbit
YORK (Pa.), Nov. 10.—When he heard a noise in some underbrush, Henry Lauer, of this city, shot at what he supposed to be a rabbit. The shot entered the body of his father, Jacob Lauer, who was hunting with his son in a wood near Glenside.

The son assisted his father to the office of a physician, where it is said his condition is serious.

LIVE CLOSE TO YOUR WORK

Do You Work in Any of Fresno's Main Industrial Plants?

Are You a Railroad Man?

Are You Willing To Make Some Money?

Sunday, November 12th marks the opening of North Calwa, a charming home section immediately adjoining Fresno's Industrial district, and a part of Calwa, a Fresno suburb of cozy homes, wide tree-lined streets, green lawns and flowers. Tremendous railroad development here has already made possible the erection of some 300 homes. Hundreds of homeseekers, railway men and industrial workers are living here, enjoying the advantages of this suburb, sending their children to its splendid school and participating in its civic affairs.

North Calwa offers you city conveniences, suburban advantages, fine soil for home gardens and a splendid investment opportunity through the fact of its ideal location adjoining the heart of the industrial section and where those employed in these plants must turn for homes.

North Calwa has electricity, city water, graded and oiled streets, sidewalks and curbs, convenient bus service to Fresno's downtown district, level lots, churches, schools and stores, and is as close to the heart of Fresno's business district as is the normal school.

You can buy lots on the opening day for as low as $285, with a very small payment down and the easiest of terms. It is far easier to buy a home here than to rent in the average suburb. Visit Calwa to-day. Investigate this opportunity. Select your lots and be on hand early Sunday morning. Take advantage of this wonderful opportunity of a good investment in a district that adjoins Fresno's only logical industrial center.

RANDSBURG MAN IN TROUBLE AGAIN OVER STOCK DEAL

Second Action Filed Against Kern County Mining Promoter

BAKERSFIELD (Kern Co.), Nov. 10.—M. B. Martin, who figures as the defendant in a series of suits growing out of mining activities in the vicinity of Randburg, is again named in an action brought in superior court by C. R. Hannaman, et al, members of an association to which Martin is said to have sold mining stock.

According to the papers filed in County Clerk F. E. Smith's office today by E. D. Ketter of Los Angeles, and Emmons & Aldrich, counsel for the plaintiffs, Martin represented to the members of the association that he held options on valuable mining claims near Randburg and that for $200 he would transfer stock. It is averred that Martin disposed of about $20,000 worth of stock in this manner, without first having secured the necessary permit from state authorities, and diverted this money to his own use.

Martin alleged insolvent. The plaintiffs aver that they are unable to obtain an accounting from Martin, who refuses to return any unexpended balance that may be in his possession, and that any action for damages, the plaintiffs ask that the court order an accounting, that Martin be declared trustee of the property, and that all options now held by him and through which stock was sold to the plaintiffs be held in trust for their benefit.

Fire Signal To Be Moved Turlock People Object To Tests Blown Three Times Daily

TURLOCK (Stanislaus Co.), Nov. 10.—Turlock's fire siren, the shrill notes of which for many seasons have disturbed the peace and quiet of the city, is soon to be removed from its resting place at the rear of a hotel to the new, more appropriate setting of the Turlock Merchants and Grocers' warehouse, farther removed from the business and residential districts. This is according to the present plans of the city trustees.

Three Tests Daily. The location of the siren long has been a bone of contention among Turlock residents, and a source of constant worry to travelers who prefer to spend the evening hours in slumber. Although innocent enough if it were sounded only in case of fire, the siren has become a nuisance to the community on account of the custom of giving it a continuous test three times daily—at 3 A. M., noon and again at 8 P. M.

More than one innocent and sleepy traveler has donned his clothes, grabbed his possessions and beat a hasty retreat from his comfortable quarters in the hotel when the 3 A. M. test shot terror into his soul. So prevalent have such occurrences become that newcomers to the city now are warned of the tri-daily signal.

Sunday Blasts Annoying. The Sunday morning tests have been the chief source of worry. Since the installation of the siren there has been no late Sunday sleeping in the vicinity. The 12 o'clock warning has been a source of worry to the preachers, preach of the dinner hour. So annoying has it been that they have united in a request that the siren be given a one-day rest, but the guardians of Turlock property were taking no chances on a Sunday blaze catching them with no signal, so the Sabbath air is pierced three times with the noisy signal. Protests became so numerous, however, that the city trustees have decided to move the signal to a more remote part of town, where the three blasts can be heard, but will not prove to be so annoying as they are from the present location of the siren.

A ROUTT FACTORY BUILT GARAGE

Built in Sections That Nail Together

If you are thinking of building a garage—think of a ROUTT FACTORY BUILT GARAGE. No bother and no worry about erection—simply place your order, and we do the rest. Not "Ready Cut," but built in sections—two side sections, two end sections—two gables and roof sections with abutting on. These garages are well constructed throughout and meet the city requirements. The cost is cut to a minimum with the use of short length material combined with the fact that all possible labor is done with machinery.

A 10x16 will be delivered and erected within 3 miles of our factory for $110.00—$25.00 down and $25.00 per month with liberal discount for cash. Other size garages and FACTORY BUILT HOMES at proportionate prices. Our building service department is at your disposal.

SAN JOAQUIN COURT HOUSE BONDS FAIL

Voters Prefer Moving Building To New Site, Rather Than Renovation

STOCKTON (San Joaquin Co.), Nov. 10.—The people of San Joaquin County turned down the proposition of a $750,000 bond issue to provide for remodeling and enlarging the court house on its present site. They expressed themselves in favor of the advisory measure calling for the removal of the structure to some other location, presumably the civic center, and selling the site at a price not less than $1,000,000, to pay the expenses of the removal.

Milk Bottling To Be Done On Ranch

MODESTO (Stanislaus Co.), Nov. 10.—Charles L. Morse, Modesto Holstein breeder, is building a concrete milking barn, with a cooling plant for milk. Upon completion of the new plant, Morse will bottle milk on his farm.

The average number of cows milked daily at the Morse place is forty, the owner planning increases to meet future demand.

The farm is well equipped with large barns and sheds for the stock. The new barn and equipment will cost about $2,000.

Floral Show At Tulare Is Success Despite Rainfall

TULARE (Tulare Co.), Nov. 10.—Threatening rain did not diminish the attendance yesterday at the annual flower show of the women's club, which was held at the clubhouse during the afternoon. Chrysanthemums, dahlias and roses predominated in the display, and a lesser number of entries than in previous years bespoke the work of the early frost.

Mrs. M. C. Zimmwalt, chairman of the civic committee of the women's club, who has been active in the creation of city parks here, arranged a collection of roses from the park which the women's club laid out for the city this year, and the first fruits of this civic endeavor appropriately won first prize in its class.

Ground Is To Be Broken For Tulare's Postoffice Monday

TULARE (Tulare Co.), Nov. 10.—Ground will be broken next week for a new postoffice building. This was announced yesterday afternoon by S. L. Rosenthal and George C. Burnett of this city, who have just signed a ten year lease with the government for the building, yet to be completed.

The site selected by the government is on Kern Street between K and L Streets, and will be west of the building to be erected by the city, the latter having recently acquired that site. Potential and Burnett are the owners of the new postoffice site.

Tulare Red Cross Elects New Officers At Meeting

TULARE (Tulare Co.), Nov. 10.—The new executive committee of the local chapter of the American Red Cross, as reorganized at the annual meeting, last night completed organization by election officers.

W. R. Sauer, new secretary, became president. Mrs. H. H. Ball, vice-president. Miss Lina House, school principal, secretary, and T. C. Hampton, treasurer. All of last year's officers were re-elected to their own terms, because of the pressure of other public duties, but all old committees were retained.

Next Monday was set as a date for the meeting of all unit organization representatives to plan the annual roll call.

Teachers' Applications Must Be Received Early

In connection with the teachers' examination, which the county board of education will hold in Fresno on the week beginning December 26th, County Superintendent of Schools Clarence W. Edwards stated this morning that applicants for grammar school certificates on examination should notify him at least ten days prior to the examination. All applicants must be present at the beginning and must be punctual in attendance throughout the examination.

Regarding necessary qualifications, Edwards says that a standing of less than 70 per cent in methods, certificate or composition or 50 per cent in any other subject shall be considered sufficient cause for refusing to issue a certificate.

Only two examinations of applicants for grammar school certificates will be given during the year, one in December and the other in June.

The board of education, of which Charles Edmonds is president, will hold the examinations in room 1116 of the Matthei Building.

NEW SPORT IN CAMERA HUNTS

Game Now Photographed By Famous Men While On Their Outings

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The new sport of hunting with a camera instead of with a gun is gaining thousands of recruits this season. This is distinctly noticeable all through our eastern marshes and woodlands, where field glasses and cameras are now almost as much in evidence as guns.

Evidently the younger generation of American sportsmen, being ex-members of outdoor study clubs, or ex-boy scouts, are aware of a fact that well-known naturalists have long urged upon our attention—namely, that it is much more exciting sport to photograph wild life than to kill it. As Dr. William Hornaday says, any dufer with a good chest book, a professional guide and a high power repeating rifle, can kill big game, but it takes good woodcraft, skill and endurance of a high order to enable him to obtain a really fine photograph of a fine wild animal in its unfeathered haunts.

Added incentive. This very difficulty, while frightening off the lazy and timid, is an additional incentive to the sportsman who seeks in hunting not the spoils of an easy victory, but the satisfaction of matching his skill and cunning against the superlative cunning of wild animals. Furthermore, a game bag filled with squirrels or red birds represents but a temporary triumph, while a game bag filled with photographic plates represents a permanent achievement. Then there is a gratification of the creative impulse in hunting with a camera, which is now almost totally absent in killing game. Our ancestors used to kill with a constructive purpose—because they needed meat or clothing for their families—but since the necessity for such things has been eliminated from hunting, shooting expeditions have largely degenerated into little more than cruel orgies.

It was the introduction of the light, over-ready, universal kodak about the beginning of the present century which first suggested the interesting possibilities in photographing wild animals. By this time, according to Dr. Hornaday, the long-continued slaughter of American big game had begun to produce on the public mind certain strong effects. People began to realize that the deadly efficiency of the high-power repeating rifle and automatic shotguns was rapidly exterminating the game of America, great and small. Consequently, thousands of sportsmen became so disgusted with game slaughter that they hung up their guns forever. "To this group," says Hornaday, "the possibilities of hunting with a camera instantly appealed. Hundreds took to the camera."

Due To Woman. To Mr. A. G. Wallihan, of rather to Mrs. A. G. Wallihan, belongs the credit of introducing the first great impulse in America to the photographing of wild game on the hoof, free in its own haunts. Like most great pioneers, the Wallihans

Canadian Taxpayers Reap Benefit From Regulated Liquor Act

VANCOUVER (B. C.), Nov. 10.—Cities in British Columbia will receive a total of $1,500,000 to help keep the wolf away from the taxpayer's door as a result of the operation of the "state regulated" distribution of liquor in the province during the past year.

Liquor is controlled and sold under permit by the liquor board, under the provincial "moderation" act. The board employs 250 persons, many of them returned soldiers.

Since the liquor law went into effect a year ago, medicinal prescriptions for liquor were reduced by an enormous percentage. In the previous fiscal year, when the province was "bone dry," 141,057 prescriptions were issued, whereas during the past year on 6,563 persons found use for medicinal liquor.

The province charges a stiff fee for the issuance of a permit to buy liquor through government warehouses. Revenue from the licenses during the past year amounted to $1,300,000.

White, Ghostlike Deer Roaming Adirondacks

SARANAC LAKE (N. Y.), Nov. 10.—The first albino deer to be seen in the Adirondacks this season has been sighted near Ampersand Mountain. Several hunters have seen the buck's ghostly outline and have been so startled by its strange aspect that they have been unable to raise their rifles to shoot.

Ampersand Mountain is the highest peak near Saranac Lake. It marks a particularly rugged country, long productive of deer and other game. Dick Disco was one of the hunters to be suddenly confronted by the white deer. He admits that the sight of the big buck with its pure white hair and wide spread of antlers so unnerved him that he was unable to raise his rifle to his shoulder.

Disco's story of sighting the white deer is corroborated by William Harrington, fire observer on the mountain. Harrington encountered the animal near the spot where Disco saw it. Although he was armed, he too, was unable to press the trigger before the animal disappeared. The deer, as it stood, in the mark of the woods, appeared as though carved of marble.

SPES SPLE IN TIGHTS; SEES CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Confronted by photographs of herself in tight-fitting clothes, Miss Marie Foster Smith, a prominent social worker, was so mortified and her good name so injured that nothing less than $100,000 will ease her wounded spirit.

This was indicated today in a declaration filed in the circuit court by Miss O'Reilly, asking for $100,000 damages from the Wallace Corporation of Physical Training Corporation. The photograph of herself in tight-fitting clothes, used by the corporation in an advertising campaign, was obtained without her knowledge or consent, she alleges.

Bandits' Victim

Lester J. Smith

Lester J. Smith of Waukesha, Wis., a Near East relief worker and former member of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin, was murdered by Syrian bandits near Aleppo, after safely conducting 1,000 Armenian orphans to safety from the Near East Relief Orphanage at Harport, in Turkish Nationalist territory.

JANE ADAMS TO EUROPE CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Miss Jane Adams of Hull House will leave Chicago in two weeks to sail for Europe, where she will attend the convention of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, of which she is president. The convention will be held at the Hague on December 17th.

Following this meeting she will start on an around-the-world tour, during which she will make a study of social conditions, she announced today. She will be accompanied on the tour by Miss Marie Foster Smith, another prominent social worker.

"I shall meet Miss Smith in the Mediterranean," said Miss Addams. "We plan to visit India, China and Japan and return across the Pacific to San Francisco. I shall visit settlements and near settlements during the tour since I am president of the International Federation of Settlements. Then, of course, there is the women's international work which I am interested in."

The women's International League for Peace and Freedom, of which Miss Adams is president, seeks to prevent war through an international organization of women.

Colonel Gonatas, one of the most prominent figures in the recent Greek revolt which cost King Constantine his throne, is shown there with important leaders of the military-revolutionary council and officers of the army and navy who rallied to the revolution. The photo was taken when they met to discuss the success of the revolt.

THERE'S ALL-AROUND SATISFACTION IN

Sincerity CLOTHES

The "Sincerity" clothed man is the man well-dressed. Sincerity suits and overcoats have style, good tailoring, good materials to recommend them, and they are most moderately priced.

SUITS $23 to $37

When you don a new Sincerity Suit you have that feeling of being well dressed that comes of wearing a suit of "real clothes." And when you consider the reasonable price, you have further cause for satisfaction. But it's all in keeping with the Levy Boys' policy of giving more value for less money.

You'll find a large number of different styles and patterns and many varieties of materials—all of them wonderful values.

Overcoats $19 to $37

Here are overcoats that are all you want in smartness and comfort and yet are reasonably priced. They are wonderfully tailored of fine, all-wool fabrics, self lined and many have the new kimono sleeves and full belt features.

U. S. MINE BUREAU HUNTS RARE METALS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—An intensive search for rare metals in the United States has been begun by the bureau of mines.

Although the mineral resources of the United States are not surpassed by those of any other country, officials of the bureau declared it is nevertheless true that certain needed minerals exist in this country only in inadequate amounts, or are almost entirely lacking.

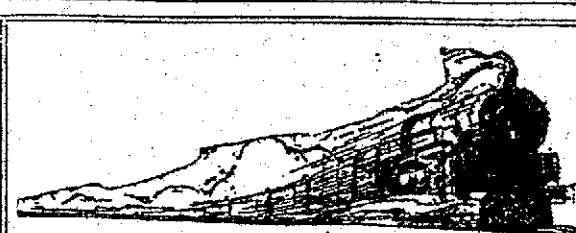

"Future exploration," it was stated, "may disclose supplies of some of these minerals, but probably will not, as the known geological conditions lead to the belief that they will not be found."

"However, no chances are being taken that such deposits be overlooked, and so the rare and precious metals experiment station of the bureau at Reno, Nevada, has undertaken, as one of its principal functions, the discovery, through samples which are sent in to it, of new sources of supply of those rare metals which have never been found in large quantities in the United States."

A special effort is being made by the station to discover sources of tungsten, cobalt, antimony, chromium, nickel, tin, vanadium, niobium and zirconium.

Fresno Loses Car By Fire Near Tracy

TURLOCK (Stanislaus Co.), Nov. 10.—A. A. Smith, insurance agent and all man with offices in the fifth-McKenzie Building in Fresno, escaped serious injury when the machine he was driving skidded on the state highway, four and one-half miles southeast of Tracy yesterday. The machine was badly wrecked and was towed into a Turlock garage.

TOBACCO CHEWING SHARK IS BACK

After 17 Years Fish With Appetite For Rum-Soaked Plug Is Seen

REDONDO, Nov. 10.—"Tobacco Bill" is still alive! After a lapse of fourteen years the famous man-eating shark, whose appetite could only be appeased with chunks of rum-soaked plug tobacco, has been seen again by the crew of the Luckenbach liner Montana, in port here from New York via the Panama Canal. Bill is still a chipper and spry, says the Montana crew, as the day he passed up seafaring men for rum-soaked tobacco.

By a strange coincidence the man who sighted Bill off Balboa two weeks ago is the same man who last saw him in what was supposed to have been the year of the old shark's demise—away back in 1905. He is Capt. Thomas W. Sheridan, perhaps the most widely known of all American mariners. Capt. Sheridan came to the coast this time as a passenger on the Montana, but when he saw "Tobacco Bill" before he was on much more exciting business. It was the occasion of the memorable race from San Francisco to New York of the famous American clipper Homeward Bound and the crack Britisher Catharine.

Capt. Sheridan was second mate on the Homeward Bound.

Bill Came Pleading

"We left San Francisco three days behind the Catharine, a larger craft than ours, but every man on board had wagered everything he owned that the Homeward Bound would beat the 'Himeliner' to Sandy Hook," said Capt. Sheridan.

"Twelve days out of the Golden Gate we were tearing along at more than eighteen knots with our keel under water, when the man on watch came running aft to me with 'Mr. Sheridan, Tobacco Bill is a-rolling off the port bow!' he continued.

"The seas were running heavily and it was unusual to see a shark in such weather, but we could tell by his immense size that the fish was doubtless Bill. I threw overboard a piece of tobacco, and lo! before them before they struck the water and with two acknowledged flips of his dorsal put out for the lee side of the Galapagos Islands. That was the last I saw of him until two weeks ago.

Brought Good Luck

"We all felt that Bill's visit was a sign of good luck—and it was," asserted Capt. Sheridan. "At sunset that afternoon we sighted the Catharine on the horizon dead ahead and just at dusk passed her under full sail, when she was double-furled topsails and her crew gaped at t. Homeward Bound in astonishment as we tore by. Capt. Sheridan was set on passing the Britisher that day and despite the gale that was blowing we were under full sail and even had kites out from our fore and main tops.

The Homeward Bound beat the Catharine to New York by eight days," Capt. Sheridan concluded, "and we credited the victory to the visit of Tobacco Bill. The Catharine's master, however, had another reason for his anger. 'Who ever heard of a man running under full canvas with a gale blowing!'"

Named By Dutchman

Tobacco Bill got his odd cognomen through the thoughtfulness of a Dutch captain, the master of the dark Jan Blankenhuis. The master shark-seeker men will tell you he is the biggest in the sea—used to lie in wait off the Central American coast, until a small boat put out from a ship and then attack the quick-shoot credit and kill or devour its occupants.

Countless attempts were made to kill the man-eater, but he always eluded the shots and harpoons. He was killing over alongside the Jan Blankenhuis while she was anchored off Managua, one day as the bark's captain was leaning over the rail with a plug of tobacco in his mouth, when the shark devoured it ravenously.

Lost Taste For Men

He became Tobacco Bill after that.

Bryant Washburn Almost Deserts His Act On Stage

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—Bryant Washburn, screen star, who has returned to the speaking stage after ten years before the camera, almost decided to "beat it" back to the pictures last week in San Francisco. This was a minute before the curtain was rolled up on the vaudeville playlet written for him by Monte Bell, literary advisor to Charlie Chaplin, which was on the program at a local theater. Washburn had picked up from a table on the stage a letter which sealed his pride until he burned under the collar.

"Your act is rotten," the letter read. "After this turn your engagement at this house is over. You'd better hit back to the talk unit."

The communication was signed "Manager of the House."

But the star for spite went on with the act. While waiting in the wings to waylay the writer, Washburn heard Victor Moore, succeeding him on the program, in a quick called change of act, reading the letter to the audience, helping them get a big "kick" out of it.

The letter was a "prop" and the stage hands had delivered it an act too soon—that's all.

and also ceased to be a manager. Bill learned to know when the Jan Blankenhuis was due from Rotterdam or Java and used to meet the big Hollander several days out at sea. He always remained with the bark until she left port and also learned to detect any change in the tobacco. If it wasn't the genuine Rotterdam product, soaked in Holland rum, Bill wouldn't touch it.

In the winter of 1908 the Jan Blankenhuis was lost in a typhoon off the coast of Java. Since his old ship went down Tobacco Bill had never been seen until he met the Montana off Balboa two weeks ago.

"Time, I think," said Capt. Sheridan, "that Herbert Bill's lead is over and he has come back to get what enjoyment he can out of the good old plug in his reclining years."

Capt. Sheridan laid in a supply of the real rum-soaked product here last week. It will be a farewell present to Tobacco Bill.

FIGHT LOOMING OVER SUBSIDY

Showdown On Measure Anticipated At Next Meeting Of Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Having been given the benefit of the most intensive advertising campaign ever put on by any agency of the government, outside of a Liberty loan drive, the administration ship subsidy measure will be back on the docket of congress for a showdown when the expected special session starts the latter part of November.

Defeat of the measure would constitute the worst possible blow to the administration, as President Harding stands as the foremost champion of subsidy legislation. Facing the bitter opposition to the bill in his own party, the President gladly threw all his influence behind the bill, thus making it an out-and-out test of his leadership over congress.

Fight Starts In House

The fight comes first in the house. The plan is to put the subsidy bill to a vote there in the early days of the special session scheduled to start November 20th, and not try for senate action until the regular term beginning in December.

Since congress adjourned in September a nation-wide campaign has been waged on behalf of the subsidy. Under the direction of Chairman A. B. Lasker of the United States Shipping Board, former head of a big Chicago advertising concern, speakers have been sent into all sections of the country, and newspaper offices everywhere have been flooded with propaganda to back up the needs of the shipping industry. Lasker, assistant President Harding, he would "sell" the subsidy to the American people by the time congress returned, so the congressmen could not refuse to vote for the bill.

Success Doubtful

The subsidy, the country has been told, is imperative for the United States to have a merchant marine to compete for world trade, and to back up the navy in event of war. Success of the subsidy appears to be very much in doubt. The measure has gained many new supporters since liquor was ruled off American ships, and Lasker's publicity drive has needed results, but even now, with the time for a test fast at hand, the bill is far from being "sold."

The belief is that Republican leaders can drive the subsidy bill through the house by taking it up under a rule allowing limited debate and no amendments from the floor. However, there may be a different story in the senate. Senators opposed to the bill are within their rights to talk the subsidy to death if they see they cannot defeat it in a vote.

Administration leaders emphatically deny reports that there have been "trades" between friends of the subsidy, advocates of acceptance of the bill for offer to Muscle Shoals, and the farm bloc, whereby the subsidy will be allowed to stand or fall purely on its own merits.

Blackfoot Indian Girl Enters Oregon College

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene (Ore.), Nov. 10.—Eleanor Houk of the Blackfoot tribe, is the first Indian girl to attend the University of Oregon. Her home is near the mouth of the Snake river, a few miles from Glacier National Park. She received her high school education at Carlisle, Pa., the largest Indian school in the United States, which was abolished during the coming of the government.

Coming to Oregon in 1918, she entered Salem high school and graduated in 1920 with high honors. The following year she taught in the lower grades at Chemawa. This fall she enrolled at the University as a freshman, with the intention of completing four full years in the department of physical education.

$15,000,000 Work Held Up To Cut Expense

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The government is holding up federal building contracts amounting to $15,000,000, it became known today, in a Nation-wide effort to break the high cost of building construction. Alarmed by the mounting cost of material and of labor accompanying a building boom which is unprecedented and which shows no signs of slowing up, officials in charge of government construction are giving the word to postpone operations.

The programme is exemplified at Cleveland, where the construction of the Federal Reserve Bank Building is being slowed because of a fight with the National Building Trades Council, which has demanded the Cleveland Building Trades Council surrender its charter or oust the local Carpenters' Union because it has accepted the metal trim work for the building.

Private Work Also Held Up

Officials deny they are making a fight against the activities of the Building Trades, which is parcelling out the work among the different crafts. Despite this denial there is little doubt that moral support is being given the Cleveland Federal Reserve Bank in the fight which it is making to simplify its construction work.

Reports received from various cities by governmental agencies show much private work is also being held up because of demands of the building trades, based on the awards of the Jurisdictional Board, which increases the cost of construction by assigning work to other crafts which contractors claim could be done by the carpenters.

Contractors Cite Reasons

In spite of efforts the government is making in the direction of lowering building costs, increasing prices, official reports say, are accompanying the accelerating movement in construction.

These reports are corroborated by a statement issued here today by the Associated General Contractors of America. According to this organization, "not only has the cost of building been going up for several months but so has the cost of materials. Wages in the building trades have more recently begun to increase also. The general average of wholesale prices has been increasing since the first of the year."

Relative to the future, the contractors say: "Instead of expecting that building costs will be materially lower eighteen months from now, we anticipate they will continue to increase during the greater part of that period, and that they will be at that time perhaps at a point higher than the present. We believe further that the decrease which may be expected to begin about that time will not go to a point very much below the figures reached during the past winter."

The contractors ascribe the increase in wages to the "unprecedented building boom" resulting in a greater demand for common labor, which is cut off from its usual source of recruiting by the Immigration Laws, and by activity in other lines, which is furnishing a competitive market for common labor.

REVOLT AGAINST BUNK IS LAUDED

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10.—"This is an age of revolution against 'bunk,'" Sinclair Lewis, author of Main Street, and the more recent Habbitt, told members of the Philadelphia Forum in the Academy of Music last night in one of the most surprising discourses the old walls of the venerable building ever heard.

"But where once the college professor was faced with a credulous crowd of young students who took down everything he said as truth," Mr. Lewis continued, "now the teacher is faced by a level-eyed and implacable younger generation saying, 'Do you know what you are talking about?'"

"A bomb can kill a few people, but those level eyes of the young revolutionist of to-day have already killed a great many nice old gentlemen who up to this time have got away with the most perfect bunk the world has ever known."

The spirit of the younger generation, he continued, is that of questioning established standards. To those who enter into this spirit, Mr. Lewis said, three things will at once happen. They will be told they are wrong; they probably are wrong, and all their best beloved relatives will try to convince them they are wrong. The compensation of revolt, however, is that it makes life interesting and demands logical explanation for everything, the speaker added.

U. S. SILENT ON CANADIAN ENVOY

Representative Would Be Welcomed If Named; Matter Rests With London

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—American officials are maintaining a discreet reticence with respect to the reported intention of the Canadian Government to send a diplomatic representative of its own to Washington, because they feel that the initiative in the matter rests with Canada, and it would be wholly inappropriate for the United States Government to appear to be making suggestions in a matter over which there appears to be considerable difference of opinion.

The position of the American Government is clear and simple. Whenever the Canadian Government deems it wise and proper to send a Minister or other direct diplomatic representative to Washington, the American Government will be glad to receive him. There has been talk for a long time of the desire of Canada to establish direct diplomatic relations with Washington, but officials of the United States Government assert that there have been no recent negotiations on the subject and that they have no official information in confirmation of persistent reports from Ottawa that a Minister was about to be sent to Washington.

In an informed British diplomatic quarter the statement was made that if Canada sends a representative to Washington, the British Government would be glad to have him, but more likely a High Commissioner.

The American Government's desire not to take the initiative in the matter is based on the assumption that the question of direct representation for Canada in Washington is a matter to be adjusted between Canada and the British Government, which latter, in the past, has always acted diplomatically for Canada and other British self-governing Dominions.

OTTAWA, Nov. 10.—Political observers look for announcement soon of appointment of a Canadian representative at Washington. This question, it became known today, was under discussion at a conference held here between Premier W. L. Mackenzie King and Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador at Washington, but official announcement concerning the decision reached at this parley still is lacking.

Love Triumphs For Princess

Princess Dagmar and her soldier husband, Jorgen Castenschiold

A romance harked for years by the usual matrimonial restrictions of royalty culminated recently in the marriage of Princess Dagmar, youngest sister of King Christian X, of Denmark, and Jorgen Castenschiold, an ordinary and untitled reserve lieutenant of the Royal Danish body guard. The groom, though untitled has been found to be "of noble birth" because his grandfather was for years Chief Chamberlain at the Danish Court. His marriage to the Princess, however, gives him many royal relatives. He will be a cousin of King George of England, a brother-in-law of King Christian of Denmark, and King Haakon of Norway, and a relative of King Gustavus Adolphus of Sweden. The bride is 22 and the bridegroom 23.

here in a press dispatch from Washington purporting to state authoritatively that the Dominion was to be named a Minister or a High Commissioner with ministerial powers.

If a Canadian representative is appointed, his authority is likely to be more restricted than was contemplated in the arrangement reached in 1920 between Sir Robert Borden, then Prime Minister of Canada, and the Lloyd George Government.

Under that arrangement Canada was to have a Minister Plenipotentiary at Washington, reporting to Canada, taking instructions from Canada, and serving as the ordinary channel of communication with the United States Government on matters of purely Canadian concern.

In the absence of the British Ambassador—and it was on this feature that Premier King, then leader of the Opposition, differed most sharply—the Canadian Minister was to take charge of the whole embassy and of the representation of imperial as well as Canadian interests.

Mr. King, while agreeing with the substance general principle of Canadian representation, opposed this proposal regarding the British Embassy, fearing that it might lead to strained relations between Canada and Great Britain.

Burbank Memorial Park Is Plan Of Santa Rosa

SANTA ROSA (Cal.), Nov. 10.—Plans are going forward rapidly to make Burbank Creations Memorial Park here a reality.

The park will occupy 40 acres adjoining the north city limits. It is being bought by popular subscription, and a substantial payment has already been made on the land.

A nation-wide appeal to those who admire Burbank or who have profited through his invention is being made.

One of the first uses of funds for the park will be the erection of a memorial building, with the greatest reference library in the world on horticultural and agricultural interests.

French Commission Removes Siki's Crown, Bars Him From Ring

Wild Man From Africa Wants To Be Let Alone. Paris Cheers Action Of Boxing Authorities. Senegalese May Cause Drawing Of "Color Line"

By JOHN O'BRIEN
United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS, Nov. 10.—Buried under the ruins of a fairy like kingdom that crashed down upon him, Battling Siki, the "wild man from Senegal" and the heavyweight champion of Europe, was looking to-day for his doom, or his doom. Barred from the ring for nine months, deprived of his French heavyweight and light heavyweight championship and facing the possibility of having all his titles removed by the international boxing federation, Siki, the hero and idol of a month ago, is tossed by one swift stroke almost into the senile class.

Siki's jungle instincts got the better of him Wednesday night, when he let the fist that had knocked out the gorgeous Georges Carpentier fly against the jaw of the manager of a boxer who had knocked out his friend he was seconding, and the law descended on him with one telling stroke.

Siki is Pentest
The Senegalese was a subdued battler to-day. He was astounded and nursed by the sudden change in his fortunes, which had changed him from an idol of the boulevards into an outcast of the gutter.

From a ham and bean second-rater in the ring, he rose to international fame when he scored a fluke victory over Carpentier. Money came fast and tribute in a torrent. It went to his head. He renounced his race and caused riots in the American drinking places where they would not accord him the same treatment that was given by the French. Siki was banished, and the foundation out from his throne.

"I don't know what was the matter with me," Siki said penitently in an interview with the United Press to-day. "I'm sorry for what I did and I hope the public will forgive me. I know I didn't act as a champion should act and I will willingly abandon all titles if they will let me alone. I want to go some place else and fight if they let me. I've had enough of this."

Good-bye Meal Ticket
Siki's manager, Sylvio, was furious at the fact that the French Boxing Federation in changing his charge from a most wonderful meal ticket to a liability with a lot of debts on his hands, had lost a million francs and ease for the rest of his days went glimmering in a little whisp of smoke.

Paris, first to cheer and first to regret the downfall of Siki, because he had made himself a great nuisance since he became burdened with fame and money. For the first time the color line was beginning to be drawn and it may be drawn permanently as a result of Siki's actions.

Notre Dame And Army To Furnish Eastern Classic

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Notre Dame and the Army, which are establishing a traditional east-midwest football rivalry, will furnish the feature game of the week on the football program to-morrow.

Notre Dame, ranking as one of the greatest football institutions of the country, has sent a undefeated eleven to West Point to meet one of the best rounded and most powerful teams that has ever carried the name of champion.

It should be a game for the gods, with Notre Dame favored only because the Hoosiers have become addicted to the habit of springing something new every year on the plains of the academy and beating the soldiers.

From a strict eastern standpoint the opening of the "big three" series in Cambridge, with the undefeated Princeton and Harvard eleven facing each other, will be a big feature game.

Because Princeton is thought to have a weaker defense and Harvard a more perfect all around team, the crimson is being picked by most of the critics to win.

Stanislaus Farmers Use Autos To Capture Deer

OAKDALE (Stanislaus Co.), Nov. 10.—The farmers living in the section of the county north of Oakdale have adopted a new form of sport, that of capturing deer by running them down with an automobile.

From a deer which was seen in the foothills and a crowd was organized to run it down with autos and they were successful, a small car doing the work and the deer was captured.

Mechanics At Escalon School Prepare Grounds

(By Bee Bureau)
ESCALON (San Joaquin Co.), Nov. 10.—The mechanics department of the Escalon Union High School has completed the installation for the tennis and volley ball courts and is now ready to put on the wire. Work on the soccer football field will start at once. Escalon High expects to do some entertaining at some in the way of athletics and physical training work this year and the facilities to enable them to do this are rapidly rounding into shape.

LEGION TEAM READY FOR COMBAT

With the team in tip-top condition and brim full of death and destruction the Fresno American Legion team is ready to "go over" at Selma to-morrow afternoon in what is considered locally as the big battle of the San Joaquin Valley Legion football schedule.

Coach Millard Peterson has been jamming his players through the toughest sorts of workouts all week. After long hours on Holmes field using the ghost ball the coach has taken his weary gridiron warriors to Legion headquarters for blackboard practice.

They Stand The Gaff
"After what the squad went through in practice this week I am convinced that their best game at Selma," declared Coach Peterson today, "any man that can stand the punishment of this week will be able to handle the hardest kind of competition without faltering."

The players are confident that they will give the best of accounts of themselves. They know that they are up against one of the best teams ever turned out at Selma and that to win they must be in their tearing and rending every minute. And it is just that state of mind into which Peterson has worked his aggression.

Exact Record Given
Selma is in a ferment of anticipation for the game. With thousands coming from all parts of the San Joaquin Valley for the Armistice Day celebration the Selma football game will probably will be the record crowd of the season. Fresno post has recruited hundreds of rosters, including the High School Cadets and a Legion band.

The Selma eleven is in the pink of condition. The team knows that the old rivalry will place the visitors on edge for this battle and that Fresno will be dangerous every minute.

State Contest At Bakersfield Is Called Off

Football dates come and go at the state college, where the announcement was made yesterday that the game to have been held to-day with the Bakersfield Junior college was called off due to the death of one of the players on the Bakersfield squad. The funeral is to be held this afternoon, and the game will be postponed until it is possible for them to play State, and so informed Coach Jones yesterday.

Consequently, the only game that State will play will be with Redkey High School. Redkey met Fresno High and was defeated by a score of 6-0. If they play as well as they did against the high school, they may be counted upon to put up a good fight.

Redkey's chances for a victory are still further improved by Coach Jones' decision that he will run in his lighter men. The eleven that Redkey will back up against will be mostly a freshman team. Some of the "varsity" team may be sent in by Coach Jones, but he plans to let the men who have been unable to make the first string have a chance to get into action.

The Fresno squad left for Redkey this morning. The game is called for 2:30 at Redkey. The probable lineup that Coach Jones will start is: Telonicher and Young, ends; Bledsoe and Cropp, tackles; Waterman, Hunt or Carpenter, as guards; Keyes, center; Serra, quarter; Best, Wright and Palestine in the backfield.

'Crimson Our Meat' Tiger Captain Says
PRINCETON (N. J.), Nov. 10.—"Crimson wear crimson jerseys. So did Chicago and Harvard's going to wear them Saturday. Crimson is our meat," Mel Dickenson, captain of the Princeton eleven said before the team left for Cambridge.

U. S. C.-Stanford Battle Features Conference Play

(By Bee Bureau)
STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 10.—The powerful U. S. C. football team will invade the Stanford campus to-morrow. This will be the first time a University of Southern California eleven has played at Palo Alto. The game promises to be one of the hardest fought contests of the season, in which the breaks will be a large factor in determining the final outcome.

The southern aggregation is one to be reckoned with. Around such stellar players as "Hippo" Klinead, Chet Dolly, and "Ironside" Baker, comes Santa Clara star, Coach "Gloomy Gus" Henderson has developed a team that is likely to take the measure of the Cardinals. Since the Trojans 12-9 defeat, the hands of the Bruins two weeks ago they have turned their entire interest and attention toward administering a crushing blow to the Redshirts.

Trojans In Condition
Because of their comparatively easy game last Saturday with Occidental, in which none of the players were injured, U. S. C. will enter the conflict with increased confidence and all of her men in the pink of condition. The Cards also were unharmed in their game with Nevada last week. Since then, however, Ray Doughty, star half, has received a wrenched shoulder which will probably keep him out of the fray Saturday. The loss of this spectacular backfield man undoubtedly will prove a serious setback to the Stanfordites as Coach Kerr has no one capable of filling the fleet back's shoes.

In the Nevada game the Cards showed more punch and fight, than in any preceding contest. Not once did Nevada threaten, their only score came on a fluke pass to Capt. Houli who made an eighty-yard run for a touchdown. That the big red team has improved and is steadily developing a well oiled machine, is an indisputable fact.

Card-Invited Clash Fought
While the Stanford Varsity is entertaining the U. S. C. the Card Babes will journey to California field to take on the Bruin yearlings. This year's Big Little Game will be a card invitation to the Bruins. With both teams hopeful of victory and seemingly evenly matched, the final outcome is uncertain.

Last Saturday the California frosh tackled the Berkeley High Boys, resulting in an overwhelming 46-0 scoring for the freshmen. Previous to this time the Babes played the same team in an early season contest and were lucky to win by one point. The obvious conclusion would be that the Cards were at least four touchdowns better than the Babes. A week prior to their Berkeley High game the Bruins were lucky to finish the U. S. C. freshmen to 3-3 tie. Last week the Babes won from the U. S. C. frosh by one point, the score being 10-9.

U. S. C. Game The Cards showed less ability than at any time this year. It was not the strength of the southerners but the lack of the Californian frosh that kept the score down. Bad teamwork and fumbling at critical moments prevented them from delivering the knockout punch to their inferior opponents. In actual football ability the Californians far surpassed the U. S. C. team. They showed considerable improvement in handling the ball and in their strategy in their last game.

After losing the breaks throughout the first half of their game with U. S. C. the Babes came in strong the second period, scoring ten points while their opponents annexed six. The Stanford team only played the southerners in all departments, their backfield combination particularly outstanding that of U. S. C.

BRUIN SHOWS HE RETAINS WALLOP

(By Bee Bureau)
BERKELEY, Nov. 10.—The Golden Bear lost its kick? After the return of the Bear Varsity from Los Angeles two weeks ago when they only defeated U. S. C. by the score of 12 to 0, fans claimed that at last the Bear had weakened. However, when the Blue and Gold varsity pulled up a 61 to 0 score against Washington State last Saturday those same fans admitted that things look different.

The Bears still have their kick and perhaps a better one than the one possessed by the 1921 varsity can be estimated from a comparison of scores rolled up by the southerners at the present time. The Bruins are leading all teams in the United States in total number of points scored, having scored 264 points on their opponents in the six games played. However, Cornell scored 285 points in the six games they were tied with Cornell, each team having scored 203 points on their opponents in the six games played. However, Cornell scored 285 points in the six games they were tied with Cornell, each team having scored 203 points on their opponents in the six games played.

Heavier Scoring Machine
The 1921 Varsity of California, which has been called the "Wonder team," scored 190 points against their adversaries in the first six games as against the 264 points scored by the 1922 varsity in their first six games.

From that comparison it can be implied that Coach Andy Smith has a heavier scoring machine this year than he had last year. The 1921 varsity scored 190 points in the first six games, one of them being that famous 72 to 3 victory over Washington. Their total scoring for the year was brought up to 342 points due to the heavy scoring in the last three games.

Holding Scores Down
Coach Smith has admitted that he has not tried to run up any big scores this year. He has been content to score more points than ever before. The next three games will tell whether the 1922 varsity will continue to the heavy scoring in the last three games.

Next Saturday Washington will give the Bears a fight at Seattle; Nevada will visit the Bears at Reno, U. S. C. and so this game should be no walkaway; and third and last when the Bears meet Stanford at Palo Alto they will probably have a hard time of it.

Adding Stacking Points
The present high score is perhaps due to the terrific line plunging of Duke Morrison, substitute fullback on the Bear varsity. An adding machine is needed to count up his scores. At the present time Duke is leading point-getter in the United States, having scored 85 points in his six games. His team, the Bears, has not only scored touchdowns but converts the goal for an added point and last Saturday added three points to his record by a drop-kick.

Although Morrison is used as a substitute for Nisbet, who does the punting for the Bears, followers of the gridiron sport claim that he has developed into all-American calibre this season. The Bears claim that his line plunging is without par on the coast this year and his kicking has been not far below that of Nisbet. Morrison often gets off a 55-yard kick, but he is not as consistent as his co-worker in the art of punting.

Best Golfers Of Valley In Play For Warner Cup
Fifty of the best golfers in the San Joaquin Valley will tee off in the annual valley championship tournament to-morrow morning at the Fresno Sunnyside Club. The finals for the big Warner Cup will be held Sunday morning and afternoon.

Dr. Harry Brownell, chairman of the tournament received word from Bakersfield to-day that the Old River Club of Bakersfield will be unable to enter a team this year. Bakersfield's withdrawal will leave the competition between Stockton, Modesto, Lindsay and Porterville.

The local players who hold the Warner Cup for the 1921 victory expect the stiffest competition from the Stockton team. Two of their star players, H. G. Ayres and W. G. Hunter are "five" handicap men and have both played several times with excellent scores over the Fresno course.

Warren Giddings and W. W. Giddings of Modesto may be expected to furnish some excellent golf here. Not much is known about the Porterville and Lindsay players, except that several of the Porterville Club welders who made names for themselves in the 1921 season will be on hand to compete.

Play on Sunday morning will start at 9 o'clock and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Tens of thousands of spectators will be on hand to witness the exhibition match between Stockton and Bakersfield and Callender will represent the Sunnysiders and Ayres and Hunter will play for Stockton.

State Prospects Good; Forty Basketball Men Answer Call Of Coach
Almost forty candidates answered the call for basketball players by Coach Arthur W. Jones at the state college to-day. The first practice will be held Monday.

With six members of last year's squad in school this season prospects appear exceedingly bright for a fast team. Crawford, Rhodes, Telonicher, Kesamian and Kendall are the members who played last season.

A sixteen game schedule has been arranged, half of the games to be played on the home floor.

Henderson Cheerful As Trojans Start North
(By The United Press)
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—The Trojans of the University of Southern California football squad left here last night for San Francisco where they will remain until Saturday before their clash with the Cardinals at the Stanford stadium.

Coach Henderson was "cheery" on this trip and was "figuring" on one game. After this burst of optimism, however, he added with a touch of the old melancholy that "you never can tell."

Municipal Golf Course Gets Civic Support

A municipal golf course once again appears a possibility in Fresno. The Chamber of Commerce has appointed a committee to investigate the situation and report to the directors. The committee is composed of H. F. Allard, A. O. Warner, Dr. Harry L. Brownell, Gerald Thomas and Ben Shegrian.

The present movement was brought about through the questionnaires annually sent out by the chamber to the members. There were many who expressed the belief that a municipal golf course was one of the big needs in Fresno.

There are between forty and fifty acres of park land belonging to the city at Redding Park which would be an ideal location for an eighteen hole course. This land at present is not being used. It is planned to develop this land for park purposes.

Plenty Of Ground
The Chamber of Commerce committee will hold their first meeting the first of next week.

Gold Grows Rapidly
It is an established fact that nearly every other city of Fresno's size in the country has a municipal golf course. Golf has taken rapid strides in the past decade and has now come to be as widely played as playground tennis.

The Chamber of Commerce committee will hold their first meeting the first of next week.

Since their defeat at the hands of the Fresno and Selma High teams, the Tech boys have displayed their best game on the gridiron, and their 14 to 6 victory over Sanger last week uncovered a powerful attack which they were unable to get under way in the early season.

Coach Rowe of the northerners is preparing his men for what will be the most important game of the Madera schedule. Davis announced his line-up this morning. Lofton will play center and Lawson and Draft will be found at guards. Doty, Chinese boy, who has been showing a fine game in the line, will play tackle with Patva.

Allen, a fast colored boy, who is dangerous on the receiving end of a forward pass, will start at right end. He has been pulling off some great aerial work this week with Captain Curtis on the heaving end. Huff, another fast boy, will occupy left end.

Captain Curtis again will direct the team from quarter. Although light, Anderson and Dick at left and right halves have been tearing off long gains against the second team of the Madera High, who take the backfield with Rice, fullback.

PLAYERS KEEN FOR JUNIOR TOURNEY

Even with the weather decidedly off color for tennis the students of the schools of Fresno are displaying great interest in the coming Junior Tennis Tournament which will open here soon. From the elementary, intermediate and high schools come the information that both boys and girls are anxious to get a chance at one of the eight cups which are being given as trophies by The Fresno Bee.

Raymond A. Quigley, superintendent of playgrounds, has directed the heads of the different grounds to place all the courts in condition at once for play, which it is hoped will start next week.

Baseball Nears End
The baseball league of the schools will close this week and the only other activity coming in is soccer. Hundreds of the students who do not play this game will be anxious to enter the junior tournament.

The principals of the schools and the athletic directors are keen for the tournament and are for the instructors who are supporting the play is W. B. Munson, principal of the Longfellow Junior High School, Munson, who some years ago was state intercollegiate tennis champion of Iowa, still enthusiases over the game and has declared that he will lend all possible co-operation to being a record breaker.

FIGHT TO SAVE POWER ACT MADE

Protest Against Annulment Of Federal Measure Is Being Strengthened

By LEO A. McCLATCHY
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Representatives of the country are organizing a drive to create a general sentiment of protest against annulment of the water power act, which is being sought in a suit filed in the Supreme Court by the State of New York. This is the act which is administered by the Federal Power Commission, which passes on applications for the development of hydro-electric power.

Campaign Started
Campaign headquarters have been opened by the conservationists in Washington, and the drive is being directed by Walter L. Fisher, who was secretary of the interior under the Taft administration. Other ex-cabinet members who are taking an active interest with Fisher are James R. Garfield and John Barton Payne, former secretaries of the interior, Newton D. Baker, Lindley M. Garrison, Henry L. Stimson, former secretaries of war, David S. Houston and Edwin T. Meredith, former secretaries of agriculture.

California Aid
Gifford Pinchot, next governor of Pennsylvania, and former head of the forest service, is another, and from California, support has been pledged by former representative William Kent and former Governor George C. Pardee.

Philip P. Wells, former chief law officer of the forest service and later of the reclamation service, secretary of the organization. In a statement outlining the plans of the conservationists, he says:

Suit Brought By New York
The state of New York has brought suit in the Supreme Court of the United States to have the water power act annulled. The Federal Power Commission, administrator of the act, is a decision of the commission of the treasury, forbidden to spend the money appropriated by congress for the employment of experts urgently needed for the proper administration of the act.

The water power act of 1920 protects the public interest in securing full development without having to pay monopoly profits.

Only a small part of the enormous water-power resources of the country have been developed. Some 85 per cent of the undeveloped power is subject to control by the federal government. Shall the public stay on the ground floor or be thrown into the street?

Attention has been diverted by problems of war and reconstruction. The public is forgetting what has forgotten—must, in fact, be informed all over again on this question—so that the act may crystallize by practical operation for some years into a settled and unquestioned policy. For this, leadership is needed, and this will be the committee's first task.

REALTY TRANSFER EFFECTED TO-DAY

W. B. Holland Purchases L Street Property From William McIndoo

An important realty transfer in the business district became known to-day, by which W. B. Holland purchased from William McIndoo, frontage of fifty feet in the 1200 block on L street. The consideration in the deal is understood to have been $18,000.

There is a small house on the property, but the price, it is understood, represents practically the value of the real estate alone.

Whether the new owner of the property will build here was not known to-day.

SCHOOL BILL IS DECLARED INVALID

Oregon Compulsory Educational Measure Said To Be Against Constitution

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 10.—The Oregon compulsory educational bill is unconstitutional, and contradictory to the spirit of America, Rev. A. C. Fox, president of Marquette University and the only member of the national Catholic committee on college standards of the American Council of Education, declared here to-day. The bill stipulates that all children of grade school age must attend public school.

Oregon voters in abolishing church and private schools for children the ages of 8 and 16 must have been misinformed and uninformed, Fox said. "Church and private schools do not want to dominate. They simply want to take care of their own."

"Fair minded Americans will disapprove of the bill and fair minded Catholics maintain that the child must be educated by the parents and the parents alone are responsible for that child to God, not the state. The state has a right to see that proper moral education is given its children, but so long as the education given by private schools is equal in kind and amount and up to the existing standards of the state, it has no right to interfere."

Men Plead Guilty To-Day On Charges Of Gambling

Nine men, arrested October 1 last, for participating in a game of chance when a pool room at 713 1/2 Broadway was raided by Detective Inspectors Joseph Merritt and T. R. O'Brien, pleaded guilty to charges of gambling to-day in Police Judge J. G. Critchton's court.

MAN ARRESTED AFTER SHOOTING

Iso Ustipack Charged With Violating County Liquor Ordinance

Iso Ustipack, aged 37, 1227 D Street, who was shot and painfully wounded yesterday afternoon in what may prove, according to the police, to be a quarrel over a woman, was arrested to-day by Lieutenant of Police Guy Shoen on a charge of possessing five gallons of wine in violation of Fresno's liquor ordinance.

Several hours after Pete Novich, aged 37, of 725 C Street, shot Ustipack in the back with a revolver, Shoen obtained a search warrant and found the liquor at the latter's home. He was taken into custody to-day and when arraigned before Police Judge J. G. Critchton, pleaded not guilty. December 12 was set as the date for his preliminary hearing.

A complaint charging Novich with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder was issued to-day by the district attorney. He will be arraigned on the charge as soon as he is able to leave the hospital.

According to Lieutenant Shoen, a woman's love figured in the shooting fracas, but as yet the police have been unable to learn or identify her, the real circumstances of the trouble.

Upon meeting Ustipack yesterday, Novich shot him on sight. Ustipack relieved his assailant of the gun after he had been shot and then with the butt of the revolver beat Novich over the head so badly he had to be sent to the county hospital in a serious condition. He will recover, however.

FULLER FREED ON ELECTION CHARGE

Former Klan Head In Sacramento Given Liberty After Police Court Hearing

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 10.—Edgar I. Fuller, former Kluge of the Sacramento Ku Klux Klan, was acquitted of charges of violation of the election laws in police court here this morning. The case grew out of charges made against Fuller by J. P. Monahan, a member of the Klan, who previous to the primary election, Fuller had caused to be issued pamphlets purporting to come from the "Catholic Welfare League" and urging all Catholics to vote against the "good government" candidates.

Monahan declared on the witness stand that Fuller had stated at a meeting of the Klan that he had a plan to make protestant voters "fall over themselves" in efforts to vote for the "good government" candidates.

BIRDMAN, WOMAN FATALLY INJURED

BEAUMONT (Texas), Nov. 13.—Mrs. Ben Jackson, wife of the president of the South Texas Fair, and R. E. Barry, Houston stunt aviator, were probably fatally injured today when they crashed in a plane they had just taken off from the local flying field fifty feet.

The two victims were exulting by persons attracted to the scene. Both were unconscious.

Nine Men Are Paroled By Board To-Day; Serving On Misdemeanor Charges

Following a meeting of the parole board composed of Chief of Police Frank Truitt, Sheriff W. P. Jones, District Attorney Gearhart and Police Judge J. G. Critchton, nine men, serving sentences in the county jail on misdemeanor charges, were paroled to-day.

Applications of two other men were denied. Those who were given their liberty were the terms of parole were: Pablo Garcia, serving ninety days for violating the state poison act; Ricardo Mongelli, serving ninety days for violating the liquor ordinance; John D. Jones, serving ninety days on the same charge; Pedro Vasquez, serving ninety days for the same charge; James Kolores, also serving ninety days for a liquor violation; Frank Brown, serving six months for violating the state poison act; and Louis Pacheco, serving ninety days for violating the liquor ordinance.

Parole to several of the men was granted on condition that they leave town.

The unsuccessful ones were: William Bogdanoff, serving twenty-five days for reckless driving, and John Subaroff, serving twenty-five days for violating the liquor ordinance.

W. Grant Johnson Dies Suddenly At Home On Thorne Avenue

W. Grant Johnson, secretary of the Valley Industrial Association and widely known in the cities and towns of the San Joaquin Valley, died suddenly yesterday morning of acute indigestion at his home, 1613 Thorne Avenue.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Stella Johnson, a sister of Anthonymus Herbert McIndoo, in Fresno, were sisters, Mrs. John Marquis and Miss Ann Johnson of Washington, Wisconsin.

He was 45 years old and a native of Milwaukee.

During the war he held an important position with the American Railroad administration.

His marriage to Mrs. Stella McIndoo, only daughter of Mrs. T. G. McIndoo, occurred September 25th, this year.

Funeral services will be held at the Mission Undertaking Company's chapel at 2 1/2 P. M. today and will be followed by a graveside ceremony in Mountain View cemetery, in charge of Fresno Lodge No. 429, Benevolent Order of Elks.

Johnson was a member of St. John's Lutheran church, 2nd and A streets, and was a Free and Accepted Mason at Seattle and Long Beach Lodge No. 555, B. P. O. E.

STATE FIREMEN ORGANIZE BODY AT MEET TO-DAY

Captain George F. Brown Is Made Temporary Chairman Of New Association

The name of the California State Firemen's Association was endorsed and adopted as the official title of the organization meeting of the California firemen at the Woodmen of the World Hall this morning.

Capt. George F. Brown of the San Francisco fire department was named temporary chairman and the purposes of the organization as the opening address. H. E. Strasser of San Diego was named temporary secretary.

Objects Defined
It was decided to-day that the object of the new organization, which is the first of its kind in this state, will be for the protection and promotion of the best interests of firemen in California; to create and maintain a brotherly and fraternal feeling and perpetuate a friendship between all true and accredited firemen; to meet and assemble annually in convention and there devise ways and means by deliberation to improve the fire fighting service by discussion of topics and exchange of ideas; and to cooperate with the chiefs of the several fire departments in the campaign for fire prevention.

Many Delegates Here
Delegates from twenty-six cities are in attendance, according to the Fresno committee, which is composed of Edward Hamm, J. M. Berkner and R. M. Hicks. It was due to the San Diego committee, H. E. Strasser, and the local committee, that the organization plans were formulated and a general meeting called.

This afternoon the delegates are expected to listen to short talks by Truman G. Brown, mayor of Fresno, and Chief W. C. Berkholz of the Fresno Fire Department. This noon an official picture was taken.

Officers To Be Elected
Later in the day an election and installation of officers for 1922 and 1923 will take place, together with the selection of the convention city for next year. Adjournment will be after the business session of the organization, which will convene again at 7 P. M.

GOOD WEATHER ON EVE OF BIG VISALIA EVENT

Five Cities To Celebrate Armistice Day In Tulare County

(By Bee Bureau)
VISALIA (Tulare Co.), Nov. 10.—With clearing weather indicated in both the weather prediction and the local forecast, the celebration of the 1921 event. Three bands, Tulare, Exeter and the Edison band of Los Angeles, will be here for the day and providing dance music for the evening.

Armistice Day is being celebrated this season under the auspices of the Visalia-Lexington-Los Angeles and Dinuba having decided to hold celebrations of their own despite an attempt on the part of other legion posts to get them into the festivities here.

The celebration is being held in Visalia under a plan by which it will be held in each of the five cities in turn. Tulare having had the 1921 event. Three bands, Tulare, Exeter and the Edison band of Los Angeles, will be here for the day and providing dance music for the evening.

The celebration will open with a pageant parade at 10 o'clock in which every civic organization of the five cities has been given a definite part to fill in depicting some event of the World War period. Indications also point to scores of additional floats and numbers.

Speaking at 11 A. M., sports opened with the football game between the High School and Tulare High School meeting in football; at 1 P. M. sports for the younger generation; at 2:30 the Visalia Legion vs. Bakerfield Legion football game; and at 4 P. M. a boxing card of seven numbers opening at 6 P. M. and dancing at 9 P. M.

FIRE BOXES ORDERED

The Fresno County Hospital, Old People's Home and Fair Grounds will immediately be directly connected with the city fire alarm system by the installation of a direct fire alarm line. This order was issued yesterday afternoon by the board of supervisors. The total cost will approximate $1,800. Fire Chief W. C. Berkholz will have the board to discuss this matter.

STEEL OUTPUT EXCEEDS ESTIMATES FOR YEAR

Early estimates of probable steel production this year have fallen short of reality. Production has run far ahead of estimates, due to the activity in the building trades, more being made in the last six months than at any time prior to April 1. The railroad and other industries have also contributed to the increase in output.

Fresno Man Brings Suit Against Kern Officers

(By Bee Bureau)
BAKERSFIELD (Kern Co.), Nov. 10.—Charles B. Cretation in the Bakersfield suit, was illegal, Harry F. McLaughlin of Fresno appeared as plaintiff in a suit brought to trial here this morning.

Sheriff D. H. Neill, W. E. Shell, C. N. Cole and the New England Casualty Company are named as defendants in the action.

McLaughlin, a Fresno post keeper, was arrested by Kern officers and held in custody at the jail. He said he was arrested at McFarland for speeding, was not allowed to appear immediately before the justice of the peace, but returned to Bakerfield and lodged in jail.

He insists his business relations have been seriously damaged by the alleged false imprisonment.

Cole and Neill made the arrest.

BARBOUR MAY HEAD COMMITTEE

By LEO A. McCLATCHY
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Representative H. E. Barbour, ranking Republican member on the House committee of expenditures in the interior department, is expected to become chairman as a result of the defeat in Tuesday's election of Representative Kreider, Pennsylvania, present chairman.

When the Washington dispatch to The Bee was shown Congressman H. E. Barbour to-day he said the significance of Kreider's defeat in connection with his own position on the House committee on expenditures had not reached him until it was called to his attention. After looking through the committee records of the interior department, he confirmed the fact that he is ranking Republican member of the House committee on expenditures in the interior department.

No Appropriations
This committee, the congressman explained, does not have, however, the power of making appropriations, but is more of an auditing and supervising committee. He illustrated the powers of the committee of which he is now ranking member, by saying that in the event the interior department should spend appropriation contrary to law, and it became necessary to investigate the matter, the investigation would be made by the committee on expenditures.

A Member of Committee
Appropriations and the making of expenditures for national parks come before the committee on public lands, of which Barbour is a member.

REGISTRY CHANGE OF SHIPS BANNED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Th ship-plate board has decided to prohibit any other American ships from changing their registry in order to avoid the Daughters liquor ruling, Chairman Lasker announced here to-day.

In making the announcement, Lasker explained that the two ships, the Resolute and the Reliance of the American Line, which hereafter fly the flag of Panama because of the liquor ruling, had stipulations in their contracts for change of registry.

No other American ships have such provisions, Lasker said, and none will be permitted to desert the American flag because of the prohibition question.

$12,000 Apartment House Permit Granted

Construction work will be started immediately on a 12,000-sq.-foot, four-family apartment house at 422 Olive Avenue, according to Berton Wolff to whom a building permit for the work was issued this morning by the department of public works. The building will be a frame and stucco structure.

before the justice court at McFarland, but instead was taken to Bakerfield and lodged in jail. He insists his business relations have been seriously damaged by the alleged false imprisonment.

Cole and Neill made the arrest.

County Chamber Enters Selma Armistice Parade

Fresno County Chamber of Commerce will be represented in the Armistice Day parade at Selma, according to Manager H. E. Parsons of the local chamber. A is being prepared which will insure the California bear patriotic decorations.

ONE MORE ATTACK

ON AMERICAN MORALS
Another offensive against short skirts, joy rides and getting parties has been launched—this time by Dr. Robert C. Moody, professor of anatomy at the University of California. He says:

Nissing and leg shows are two of the big contributing factors toward moral delinquency and the lowering of the morals of the American people.

He further points out that the morality of many tribes of savages, who live practically naked, is far above that of civilized people, and then makes a plea for the "single standard."

With all respect for Dr. Moody's knowledge of anatomy, and with due acknowledgement of the truth of his statement about the savages, there are still enough inconsistencies in his argument to render it entirely ineffective.

In the first place, Dr. Moody must prove that young people today are any more immoral than they were before short skirts and motor cars came into fashion. In the second, he must point out how his condemnation of short skirts can be reconciled with his implied statement that the fewer clothes people wear the more moral they are. In the third, if he advocates a "single standard," what particular standard does he advocate?

That young people to-day are more immoral than formerly is extremely doubtful. They are unquestionably much more sophisticated. They talk a great deal about things which used to be taboo. They demand and get a great deal of personal freedom. But no one has ever been able to prove that they are more immoral than their fathers and mothers were. And there is much testimony from doctors and other people in a position to get the facts, that they distinctly are not.

As to the joy-rides and the getting parties, in the old days they were buggy rides and spooning parties, slight differences in speed and terminology, but not involving any moral values. These things, like the poor, are always with us; they are a fact of human nature, against which (fortunately for the continuation of the race) the theories of outraged reformers are powerless.

On the question of clothes it need only be said that the savages of which Dr. Moody speaks are no standard by which to measure the reactions of vastly more highly organized races toward a vastly more complex and stimulating civilization. The bare simplicity of a life which is always close to the margin of subsistence leaves little time or energy for any sort of dissipation.

And, besides this, there are innumerable psychological factors to be considered; the more active imagination of the civilized man, his infinitely more complex response to all stimuli whatsoever—these, plus the excessive presence of these stimuli in modern life, completely ruin the savage argument.

It is a picturesque device to shock the half-educated into attention, nothing more.

In short, if Dr. Moody must persist in his unproved accusation of immorality leveled against the younger generation of to-day, he will do better to put the blame on the maddening complexities of a wholly artificial civilization than upon The People who, according to him, are made mad by it.

Being a scientist, he would also do well to recognize the scientific doctrine that, allowing for differences in racial tendency, human nature is a pretty constant factor. In the period of which we have historical record it has changed very slightly. If at all. Each age has had the counterpart of the flapper, and the world has not yet gone to what Mr. Mantelini called "the denotation bow-wow."

The whole basis of Dr. Moody's remarks is doubtless only another proof of the above mentioned constancy of human nature. Every generation of the world has seen has been loud in condemnation of the succeeding one. And each has completely forgotten that the succeeding generation is exactly what conditions molded by its predecessors have made it.

Any reformer who wants a real job might get busy at these conditions: might preach some gospel of beauty and simplicity which would serve as a counter-irritant to our present hectic materialism. But to accept this materialism wholesale and waste valuable breath on such trivial phenomena as short skirts is perfectly futile and not very intelligent.

Official statistics show California's production of "mineral waters" to be something more than $1,000 a day in value, for each day in the year.

Some persons may say a very considerable percentage of these "mineral waters" like much of the "scotch" sold over bars, is purely "synthetic" and of drug store production, such as the "soda water" consumed in warm weather.

But it all represents industry and enterprise.

Congressman Volstead went down to defeat in Minnesota, as did the Wright Act in California, which would have fastened Volsteadism on this state.

It is not exactly a case of letting "the dead and the beautiful rest," but Volstead may live in political history by reason of the enactment which bears his name.

ONE REASON FOR

INEFFICIENT GOVERNMENT
Election returns from Calexico show the following results in the race for congress: Swing, Republican, 611 votes; Andy Gump, "100 per cent for Americans," 113; Bauer, Socialist, 77.

In other words, there are in Calexico 113 persons who thought a cheap joke worth more than the privileges of citizenship.

And it does not stop with Calexico. All over California returns show votes for the estimable Andy.

If a comic strip be art, this is a new proof of the fact that an artistic creation is often more real than men of flesh and blood. But the true moral of the tale is different.

Doubtless these people who voted for Andy Gump will soon be complaining bitterly about the inefficiency and general rottenness of congress. Doubtless many of them will soon be heard to say that democracy is no good anyhow.

Well, congress will continue to be inefficient and democracy will continue to fall short just as long as there are so-called citizens who can treat the most vital duty of citizenship with this childish and inexcusable levity.

Reports from the cities around Chesapeake Bay tell of great numbers of wild ducks which have been so gummed up with the oil left on the water by passing ships that they can be shot or knocked over at will. Further, that the ducks are being both shot and knocked over in wholesale lots.

The old-fashioned creed of the sportsman was that a man who shot a bird sitting was a good bird lower than a snake. What about a man who waits until the bird is perfectly helpless?

TWELVE-HOUR DAY

AND SEVEN-DAY WEEK
The recent declaration of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., that the twelve-hour day and the seven-day week are "unnecessary, uneconomic and unjustifiable" is a hard rap at the labor program of the steel trust, and certain other great corporations in America.

It was given out some months ago, after a conference with Harding at the White House, that the trust would "consider the possibility" of changing its twelve-hour day to one of eight hours, but at the same time this was said to be almost "prohibitive in cost."

Now the making of steel is one of the most highly protected industries in this country, and has been exceedingly profitable for many years.

With a capitalization of some $1,000,000,000, originally half "water," United States Steel has been enabled by its not gains, in addition to dividends, to put itself on a solid financial foundation.

It is in no position to plead "necessity" as an excuse for working many thousands of men twelve hours a day and every day in the week, and thus exposing to criticism or reproach that policy of "protection to labor" by which it continues to profit enormously.

The new state superintendent of schools in Kansas, a woman, has forbidden all teachers to use tobacco in any form; also to dance or allow any schoolroom to be used for dancing.

One teacher already has been dismissed, and has forfeited her state certificate, because she not only permitted dancing at a school entertainment but also joined in a polka.

Kansas has an anti-cigarette law which has been upheld by her supreme court. And although as yet there may be nothing against dancing in her constitution or her statutes, her state superintendent of education seems to have blazed the path of progress and reform in that direction.

Prohibition has closed eight large breweries in Milwaukee, but it is estimated that there are 100,000 home breweries there now.

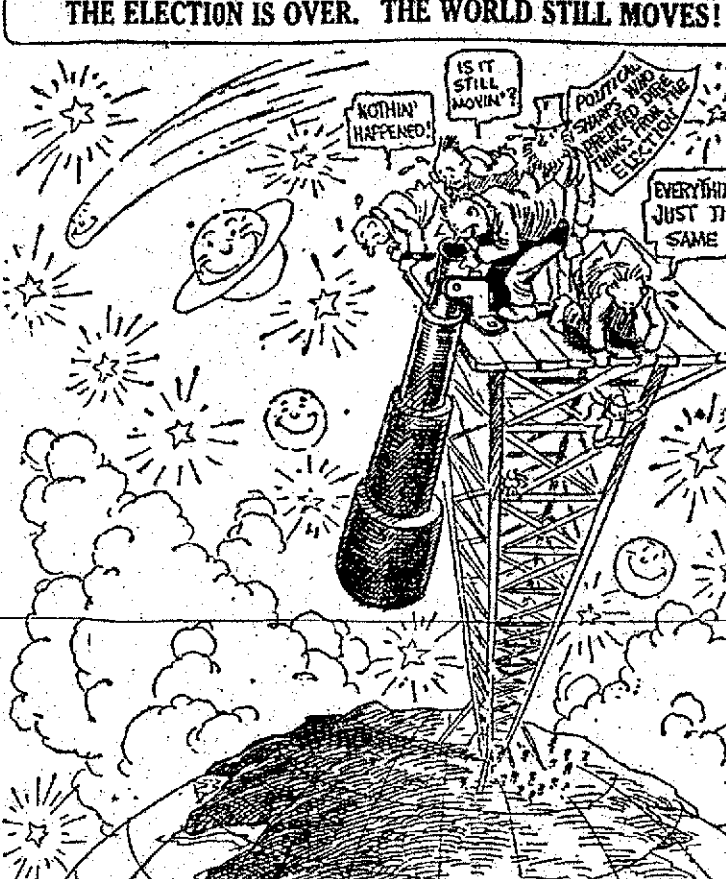

Thus, in a way, Volsteadism may be said to promote the multiplication of industries.

Overcoat insurance is said to be underway in Philadelphia. And insurance for umbrellas may be next in order by enterprising dealers in those utilities which so readily change hands in restaurants and other public places.

As a witness giving testimony before an Oklahoma court, a lawyer recently declared he never had violated either a moral law or a law of God; that he was as "nearly perfect" as a man can be.

So it seems that the Pharisees are not all dead yet.

THE ELECTION IS OVER. THE WORLD STILL MOVES!

THE BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

The Young Fox Becomes Pop-Eyed

By THORNTON W. BURGESS
(Copyright, 1922, by T. W. Burgess)

Farmer Brown's Boy no longer allowed his hens outside the henyard excepting when he could keep watch over them, and so the young Fox did not get another chance to catch one of them. He had to be content with watching them, and you may be sure he did this every time they were out.

One day Farmer Brown's Boy was sitting on the ground, watching the hens, when he saw a great big snake slithering out of the barnyard. He was so frightened that he ran to his father and told him.

Farmer Brown said: "Don't worry, son. That's only a garden snake. It's harmless. It's just looking for a place to hide."

But the young Fox was not satisfied. He was sure there was something alive in there when he heard strange sounds coming from that crate, sounds which he had never heard before.

It seemed to him that Farmer Brown's Boy never would come and open that crate. But at last he came out of the barn with a hammer and went to work on the crate. At last he had it open, and reaching in, he lifted out a great bird, while Farmer Brown lifted out another great bird. Could you have seen the eyes of that young Fox as he watched you would have thought that they were going to pop right out of his head. Yes, sir, you would certainly have thought that they were going to pop right out of his head. Yes, sir, you would certainly have thought that they were going to pop right out of his head.

Farmer Brown's Boy and Farmer Brown went over to the henyard, opened the gate and put those two big birds down inside. Then for the first time the young Fox got a good look at them and had it been possible his eyes would have popped out even more. Yes, sir, they would so. You see, those birds were several times as large as the biggest hen. And such necks as they had!

Of course, you have guessed what they were. They were a pair of geese, a gray gander and a gray goose. But the young Fox had never seen a goose and he didn't know that there was such a bird. His father and his mother could have told him all about them, but they hadn't. But, of course, they were not there, so the young Fox didn't know what to make of those geese.

But he knew they were birds, and, being birds, they would be very good eating. "My, my, my, what a feast one of those birds would be!" thought the young Fox. "They are stupid-looking things. Yes, sir, they are stupid-looking things. They are even more stupid-looking than those hens. Perhaps Farmer Brown's Boy will let them out one of these days and I will have a chance to catch one. One would make me two good dinners. My, my, my, how I wish I had one right now!"

THE BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES
The Young Fox Becomes Pop-Eyed
By THORNTON W. BURGESS
(Copyright, 1922, by T. W. Burgess)

Farmer Brown's Boy no longer allowed his hens outside the henyard excepting when he could keep watch over them, and so the young Fox did not get another chance to catch one of them. He had to be content with watching them, and you may be sure he did this every time they were out.

One day Farmer Brown's Boy was sitting on the ground, watching the hens, when he saw a great big snake slithering out of the barnyard. He was so frightened that he ran to his father and told him.

Farmer Brown said: "Don't worry, son. That's only a garden snake. It's harmless. It's just looking for a place to hide."

But the young Fox was not satisfied. He was sure there was something alive in there when he heard strange sounds coming from that crate, sounds which he had never heard before.

It seemed to him that Farmer Brown's Boy never would come and open that crate. But at last he came out of the barn with a hammer and went to work on the crate. At last he had it open, and reaching in, he lifted out a great bird, while Farmer Brown lifted out another great bird. Could you have seen the eyes of that young Fox as he watched you would have thought that they were going to pop right out of his head. Yes, sir, you would certainly have thought that they were going to pop right out of his head.

Merely Some Private Thoughts

By C. K.

Prohibition organs are declaring that the Prohibitionists will fight to the end in every state against the efforts of the "liquor interests" to amend the Volstead Act so as to permit the manufacture and sale of light wines and beers.

The Prohibitionists are not at all fair in this matter. They know thoroughly well the vast majority of the men and the women who are against the present Volstead Act have no more connection with the "liquor interests" than have the Prohibitionists themselves.

They know full well the vast majority of the men and the women who repudiate the present drastic bone-dry prohibition are in no way connected with distilleries or breweries.

They know full well the vast majority of these men and women are to-day and have been for years and years against the saloon.

But these Prohibitionists continually and unprovokedly declare the fight to be between themselves and the homes on the one side, and the vile saloons and the liquor interests on the other.

Men and women can battle against the present condition of prohibition in this country and, at the same time, be fighting for real temperance.

They can abhor the Volstead Act in its present severity and, yet, have an utter contempt for the "liquor interests" whose iniquities brought prohibition upon the nation.

Eugene Kobansky, a straight Republican and a dry goods merchant of New York, said on election day: "Women in politics make me sick."

The women who heard it proceeded to demonstrate their capacity as citizens and his irresponsibility by scratching his face and tearing his clothes. Then, after beating him up to their hearts' satisfaction, they dragged him to a police court and charged him with disorderly conduct.

And yet things not half as strange and inconsistent on the vaudeville stage are looked upon as wildly exaggerated!

A writer asks:

Why are there to-day no such actors as Booth or Salvini, or actresses such as Rachel or Sarah Bernhardt?

The answer to that is that conditions do not permit. In the days of Edwin Booth, Salvini, and Rachel, and when Sarah Bernhardt was in the prime of her youth, actors went through an arduous course of preparation and of study.

They were not one-part actors; they were not simply marionettes, around whose figures dramatists fitted dialogue; they did not appear on the stage solely to re-interpret themselves in dozens of different characters; they were taught not only reading but expression; they had to learn a number of greatly varying parts; they were instructed as well in the majestic blank verse of Shakespeare as in the scintillating prose of Richard Brinsley Sheridan or Dion Boucicault.

The result was that managers of those days did not pick parts to fit the hair, or complexion, or beauty, or peculiarities of an actor or actress, but chose actors and actresses for varying characters according to their ability to counterfeits others and to submerge their own individuality.

Take the average actor or actress of to-day, no matter how high salaried, and neither ever plays anything but himself or herself in a different suit or dress.

The other day in a Private Think this writer referred to the Church of England as being sustained by taxation.

Several correspondents have corrected that, but their correction would leave the reader to understand that the said church never was sustained by such taxation.

The fact is that while it is not now so sustained, it was until 1855; that it was not until that date the compulsory imposition of this tax upon the parishioners of all religious denominations was abolished.

HAS THE GULF STREAM CHANGED ITS COURSE?

If the coming winter should turn out to be very cold with a deal of snow, or very mild with very little snow, we are sure to hear that it was due to a shift in the course of the Gulf Stream. Whichever way the winter goes, there will be many people to tell us that our climate now is far different from what it was in their youth, and that this change was caused by a permanent change in the course of the Gulf Stream.

Now, as a matter of fact, the direct influence of the Gulf Stream on the climate of the greater part of the United States is quite negligible. Its effect on the climate of places on or near the eastern coast, as Norfolk, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston, is quite insensible. Aside from latitude, or the distance of a place from the equator, our climate depends mostly on the direction from which the winds come and the force with which they blow. And in winter our winds are practically from the north-west, that is, from the land toward the ocean, so that the Gulf Stream cannot affect our winters, although the westerly winds that blow over the Gulf Stream do influence the climate of the British Isles.

The Gulf Stream does change its position somewhat in accordance with the changing seasons and with changes in the velocity and direction of the winds. But these changes in its course are in response to temporary forces and are therefore of a slight and temporary character. Our knowledge of this mighty "river in the ocean" dates from the time when Donce de Leep in his search for the fabled Fountain of Youth, first felt the force of its current more than 600 years ago. And throughout all this time observations show that the Gulf Stream has kept from year to year practically the same course.

Any permanent change in an ocean current of the magnitude of the Gulf Stream could only come as the result of permanent and extensive changes in such features as the bottom of the ocean, the configuration of the coast line or the prevailing direction of the winds.

"Why the Gulf like old man?" I didn't know you asked.
"I don't. This get-up is mainly to impress a bank president I'm going to strike for a loan."

WHY WAIT TO BE DELIGHTED?

MRS. BLOSSOM, IT WOULD GIVE ME GREAT PLEASURE IF YOU WOULD CONSENT TO TAKE DINNER WITH ME SOME EVENING NEXT WEEK!

WHY, IT OUGHT TO BE THE EASIEST THING IN THE WORLD, JUST TO WALK RIGHT UP TO HER, AND WITH A NEAT BOW, SAY—

SKEEZIX, AREN'T YOU ASHAMED OF YOUR UGLY FACE? I'VE BEEN TRYING FOR THREE DAYS SIMPLY TO ASK MRS. BLOSSOM IF SHE'LL GO OUT TO DINNER WITH ME!

SUCH IS FAME!
(From Oakland Tribune)
"Six transit glows mundi!" Rodolpho Vadery should not be so proud and commonplace. They should have the aroma of romance about them, although sometimes one is impressed with the fact that there is a far different aroma at some of the places where the "glows" are sold. There is grandeur and majesty in the thought of a great people going to appointed places on the same day, all over the land, and registering their will. This is done, not in the old way—with bullet or bludgeon—but with the silent, peaceful little strip of paper, bearing the imprint of the sovereign citizen.

"BOOTLEG RELIGION"

(From Los Angeles Examiner)
A certain New York clergyman, himself a leading liberal, referred rather un sympathetically—not to say unintelligently—to the teachings of the "bootleg religion." It may promptly be said that the crowds at these meetings are usually made up of men and women earnest and light seeking who have, nevertheless, forsaken the established faith. The fact that their spiritual thirst is somehow being met ought to please more orthodox religionists without suspicion of "bootlegging."

There is still another viewpoint of these meetings of the unchurched in hotels, theaters and halls should appeal to the sympathies of genuine religionists. Historically, they follow the path of Christendom—to meet in humble, unassuming places, new adventures of the spirit, until they become crowds of fellow believers established and recognized and housed in new temples to the God of all.

ELECTION DAY FATEFUL

TWO SEASONS

(By Edna St. Vincent Millay)
I know I am but summer to your heart,
And not the full four seasons of the year;
And you must welcome from another part
Such noble moods as are not mine,
My dear.

No gracious weight of golden fruits to sell
Have I, nor any wise and wintry
And I have loved you all too long
To carry still the high sweet breast of Spring.

Wherefore, I say: To love as summer goes,
I must be gone, steal forth with silent drums,
That you may hail new the bird
When I come back to you as summer comes.

Else you will seek at some not distant time
Every summer in another
clime.

II
Say what you will, and scratch my heart to find
The roots of last year's roses in my breast;
I am as surely ripe as my mind
As if the fruit stood in the stalls confessed.

Laugh at the unshed leaf, say what you will,
Call me in all things what I was before the wind, a woman
atill;

I tell you I am what I was and my branches weigh me down, frost
cleans the air,
My sky is black with small birds
bearing south;

Say what you will, confuse me with time, care,
Put by my word as but an April
truth—
Autumn is no less on me that Hugs the brown bough and sighs
before it goes.

DOWN A MILE, NO OIL

(From Kansas City Star)
Although Niles Esperson, who died recently in Chicago, was widely known as the "wildcat wizard" of the oil industry, he met with two striking and costly disappointments in seeking oil in unproved localities. The most notable was when he drilled the deepest hole in Brownsville on the bank of the Rio Grande. The well was abandoned at a depth of approximately fifty-six hundred feet without a showing of oil being obtained. The derrick and machinery used in drilling of enormous size and power. It is said the total cost to Mr. Esperson was more than $200,000. To all appearances he took the failure as a matter of course, and was not heard of in Alaska, investigating the possibilities of oil being found in that territory. His second notable unsuccessful deep test was near Orange, Texas. It was drilled to a depth of about fifty-two hundred feet.

Esperon made his reputation as a successful driller of wildcat wells by the discoveries he made of oil pools in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. At a time when the Humble field, situated near Houston, generally was believed to be almost exhausted, Mr. Esperson, as chief engineer of the Inevitable Oil Company, drilled a deep test there and discovered a new sand that rejuvenated the field and brought millions of dollars to the owners of the Inevitable Oil Company. The six million dollars cash. At the time of his death he was a large stockholder in the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and was interested in a number of other large industrial enterprises. He lived in Houston.

A GOOD HUNCH

(From Kansas City Star)
Several youngsters were playing with a pet goat, trying to harness him to a small wagon. A man passing by stopped to watch them. For some reason the goat resented this. He eyed the stranger with a warlike look.

"Better get a move on, mister," one of the boys called. "This here goat don't like your looks!"

The pet goat snorted. Why should a man run from a scrubby goat? All at once the goat lunged away from the boys across the lot toward him.

"Run! Run! Run like everything!" yelled the youngsters. The man stood his ground. Just as the charging goat reached him he sidestepped and the boys let out a whoop of encouragement. When the goat turned back the man grasped him by the horns and held him by main strength.

"Atta boy!" yelled one of the youngsters. "Trip him up, advised another. "Trip him up and set on him!"

The man accepted the boy's advice and threw the goat to the ground and set upon him. Then he studied the situation. There seemed to be nothing further to be done.

"What shall I do now?" the stranger asked the boys.

"No one knew just what to say for a few moments. Then one of the boys shouted:

"Let go and run like thunder!"
